P.M. Proposes Grant Plan

McGill Daily C.D.P.

In a surprise announcement yesterday at the Centennial Conference of the Canadian University Grants Committee, Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson said that he would make an offer to the Federal Government to match any provincial grant to provincial universities, provided that the provinces would also contribute to their institutions.

The offer would be made on the basis of a social, national, and local basis, and would be extended to all universities, regardless of the nature of their work.

WUSC Trophy To Manitoba Delegate

Manitoban—C.D.P.

WUSC, which is the student council of the University of Manitoba, has awarded the WUSC Trophy to a Manitoba delegate at the National Conference of Canadian Universities.

The trophy is awarded to the member of the student council who has demonstrated outstanding leadership and dedication to the students of Canada.

N.F.C.U.S. Dues On Sliding Scale

This would allow for a more equitable distribution of funds among the various chapters, based on the number of members in each chapter.

Observer Surveys Students' Centre Picture

In general, the usual accommodation of such centres can be placed under three main headings: that of a social nature; that of a recreational nature; and that of a cultural nature.

It is hoped that these centres will be utilized to their fullest extent by the students, both for social and recreational purposes.

The University of Manitoba has already established a Student Centre, which includes facilities for social, recreational, and cultural activities.

University Building Fund Office

Dr. H. C. Hatch has been designated as the new president of the University Building Fund Office, succeeding Dr. John A. Blumberg.

The new president will continue the work of the late president, who passed away suddenly last month.

The University Building Fund Office is responsible for the construction and maintenance of university buildings, and will receive a substantial contribution from the sale of $25,000,000 of government bonds.

Student Pledge Aids

The Student Pledge Aids, which were developed by the Student Affairs Committee, will be distributed to all students.

The aids are designed to encourage students to participate in the activities of the Student Union and to support the work of the Student Union Council.

This will be the first time that such aids have been distributed to students, and it is hoped that they will be of great benefit in promoting student participation in university life.

A. Thibault, Ph.D.

You see Dr. Thibault hustling down a corridor between the University of Windsor and the University of Essex College, ready to punch on the clock at 9 a.m.

This is a job to be accomplished and time is running short.

The Building Fund committee will be meeting in the Student Centre at 2 p.m. to discuss the building programme and all matters pertaining to the Student Centre.

The committee will be under the chairmanship of Dr. A. Thibault, and will be assisted by a number of students.

The meeting will be open to all students, and it is hoped that many will attend.

St. Angela Hall
A Big Year — Dr. Thibault

This is a big year for Assumption. A year of promise; a year, we hope, of fulfillment. A year in which to accumulate more of the advantages of education. All this is not enough. Like all progress, Assumption’s future will only be real to the extent that it is based on the past. And what a past! It is the one in which the Assumption tradition is based on the work of the many who have contributed to it. And it is the one in which the Assumption tradition is based on the work of the many who have contributed to it. And it is the one in which the Assumption tradition is based on the work of the many who have contributed to it.

Advertising in a college paper must necessarily be seen as the means to an end—the collection of funds to defray publication costs. But, it is also a means to an end...it is a topsy-turvy, turn—about, warped sort of thing. By the time you read this, I hope to have laid the foundations of such a program. It is a program that will not only provide a source of income for the college, but will also serve to educate students about the importance of proper advertising practices.

Disparaging Remarks on Sports

There is a movement beginning to stir on our great western plains that I feel will someday come to a very successful and edifying culmination. Possibly even within another 10 years.

Out in Winnipeg a fellow by the name of Lew Milne, who coached the Winnipeg Blue Bombers to an enviable success in the realm of Intermediate Canadian football, spoke the words that may be regarded someday as the spark that set Canada's University athletic activity on fire.

Mr. Milne stood before the faculty governing body of the University of Manitoba and told them, "Gentlemen, you need football, I think I can get you started."

This attendance figure is too too difficult to conceive when we uneducated Easterners realize U of M has an enrollment of 4,000 to begin with and that the Junior Winnipeg Blue Bombers in the nearest 6,000 right now.

Add to this some College atmosphere and sport along with some good Canadian competition and you're in business. The best competition springs from countrywide rivalry centered upon national prominence.

Quotable Quotes... On Changing the Raiders' Name

(Red Note, Bob Knuckle, one of the P.W.'s most prolific arrivers, made a cross campus survey of the student's view concerning the Athletic Dept.'s announced plans to change the name of Yarima teams.)

Rufus Armstrong, who first named A.H.S. the Purple Raiders: "I don't know if a change is necessary, but if anything changes I think it should be the high school."

Ed Chittick, post grad past varsity player: "I think a change in name would be a good thing. It would save a lot of confusion. I like the name Crusaders myself."

Fr. Miller, University phosphibio: "It's a good idea. We are not a high school."

Kevin Bertos: "We're losing a lot of tradition in one quick move. I'm in favour of keeping the Raiders around for a long while yet."

Hank Bisatti, Raider coach: "I'm quite ardourful, I'll leave it in the hands of those lstoring the changes."

Fr. Donnelly, High school historian: "Even from the high school viewpoint, I don't like the idea."

Joe Leplin, the most: "I have always been a revolutionary. I think we should change it."

Roy MacFarlane, Assumption: "Let's keep it Raiders until we get a generally agreed on improvement for the name of the Raiders."

I think this is a question upon which the student body should voice its opinion. A referendum means a lot and little letter will suffice.

Intramural Notes

On the football scene the story of low competition and no fans still remains. We are the League favorites, while the Winnipeg Blue Jays are the League toppers, but it's a great pity that so few interest in the football, and in the Intercollegiate swimming.

Canadian competition and you're in business. The best competition springs from countrywide rivalry centered upon national prominence.

Swimming commissioners Ed Scoble and Alex Murray would like to see two or three on a team with the bank's competition having water-polo as one of their events.

Volley ball is also being considered in the Intercollegiate swimming at London. All set teams, lake or river swimmers are invited, besides those who can manage the length of the pool.

Since there has been such great interest in the bowling league two nights (Mon. & Wed.) per week, this year have been set aside for this sport.

The Monday or "A" Division has 12 teams, and the Wednesday or "B" Division sends 10 teams to the University of Detroit tourney.

Early next spring commissioner Pete Devriendt will send two teams to the University of Detroit tourney.

The bowling competition this year also will be chosen from the regular intramural teams during the winter.

In view of the results of last year's university tourney, which seemed to be all enthusiastic about the competition, the University will program Tennis Intercollegiate Games. The young prospects will be coached by two Detroit Professional whom Dr. Roy Perry, a Windsor dental surgeon and one of Assumption's very good friends, will bring to the school.

This year a tennis clinic was held on the campus courts. Students attending were shown certain "tricks of the trade" by Mr. Lou Veres, a young Assumption alumnus, and prominent district sports figure.

Commissioner Fred Depout is laying plans for the formation of a Tennis Club on campus. He is quite anxious to meet all students who are interested in the game. A name left at the Athletic office will suffice to put you in touch with Mr. Depout.

The Western Conference, comprised of U.B.C., Alberta, U. of 8., and the Western Conference is the "BIG Six" would include Varsity, Western, and U. of S.

The central conference or "CHIO Six" will include Varsity, Western, and U. of S. with New Brunswick but the calibre of play is not the best to say the least.

There is a movement beginning to stir on our great western plains that I feel will someday come to a very successful and edifying culmination.

Mr. Miles stood before the faculty governing body of the University of Manitoba and told them, "Gentlemen, you need football, I think I can get you started."

This attendance figure is too too difficult to conceive when we uneducated Easterners realize U of M has an enrollment of 4,000 to begin with and that the Junior Winnipeg Blue Bombers in the nearest 6,000 right now.

Future Demands New Kind of Expert

By DR. G.A. WOONTON

The Institute of Radio Engineers has sponsored meetings for more than 30 years to present talks on radio, and at these meetings people who have made studies generally on behalf of industry have been invited to discuss the problems which face them in the design and production of radio equipment. The Institute, therefore, has been able to produce a kind of expert on this subject who, in one way or another, has been able to make a number of discoveries. It is interesting to note that this kind of expert has been very useful in the design of radio equipment, and that it is likely to be even more useful in the future.

Suzie Crisis Has Many Angles

The Suzie events of the last month have involved the world's power brokers. The latest Suzie, a 16-year-old Russian, has ignited the world's power blocks. When the pieces again begin to fall into place, one wonders what will be the general shape of the globe politically.

England and France's recent intervention in the Middle East has resulted in the Western rear... a view one can only speculate what ultimate aim this may have, if any, has affected. Despite diplomatic assurances, President Eisenhower's plea for arms, gas for mass areas of this kind and the appearance of any action which would be recurrences of the Western Bloc and United Kingdom writers have spoken the wrong. President's safety report received. American observers vowed to the threat of armed coercion on the part of the West Press for the Suez crisis, and other nations. The Chinese say they can the Americans say to U.N. interference, without United Nations approval in Korea. Well, can they be sure that this is their right, and it's time we began to utilize the World Organizations we've set up to solve all international problems.

H. L. Prickett, writing recently in the Sun, echoes the hopefulness of that group interested in the return of a nation. Their efforts, he says, have again once found itself's goal. Must the Western Bloc, and United Kingdom writers report the way we thought, that the Chinese were not interested in the Suez crisis, and other nations. The Chinese say they can the Americans say to U.N. interference, without United Nations approval in Korea. Well, can they be sure that this is their right, and it's time we began to utilize the World Organizations we've set up to solve all international problems.

Russia is perhaps not, in such an spoiled, nationalistic sense one think. Yes, she found, in the Suez, a diplomatic sword to be wielded in the name of humanity. Her strength has once again found itself. Must the Western Bloc, and United Kingdom writers report the way we thought, that the Chinese were not interested in the Suez crisis, and other nations. The Chinese say they can the Americans say to U.N. interference, without United Nations approval in Korea. Well, can they be sure that this is their right, and it's time we began to utilize the World Organizations we've set up to solve all international problems.

And perhaps Russia has a nice, but one foot too far this time in offering volunteers to the people of the world. Even those who are not free accept the Soviet offer. President Eisenhower vows to obstruct the "volunteer" movement... and the whipperin pill of peace in the Middle East.

General Mark Clark, in a speech last week, prophesies the annihilation of German and Russian forces by the end of the year. In the event of War with the Western powers, a new generation Russia is not so convinced of the strength of the Democratic Nations.

Where is the eventual question, does the American people have a right to know who will be set up shop. Mysteries Nol, the prophet of Asia revived... this latter question may be the biggest problem of all.

Pavlini On Radio

Why? Because someone has told you that you are witty or that you just belle

If you think you want to go into radio, consider this. You may find, however, that you are not really equipped for the work, or that you do not have the necessary voice.

This is the one and only time that I have been tempted to speak on the subject of the broadcasting engineer, the listeners, and the audience. For obvious reasons, I will limit this article to the life and loves of the most important member of our audience.

As a popular impression is still the infallible rule of all good people, I strongly recommend proper voice control for those of you who have an aversion to the idea of becoming a broadcasting engineer. For, as the name suggests, it is a voice that never does not convey its true meaning and its importance.

Articulation, if it is good, enables the listener to understand the voice of the speaker. You may have heard the phrase "a voice that makes you want to listen." This is the voice that the engineer, the listener, and the audience will turn to when listening to a talk on tomorrow's show.

On second thought, I am not sure if I am conveying you a voice of this sort or not. Therefore, I shall leave it to the engineers, who are the real experts in the field.

How does a voice acquire this quality? As the voice is a means of communication, it is necessary to be able to express yourself clearly and fluently.

For the record, Dr. Adelman is an expert in the field of chemical engineering and has been awarded his M.A.Sc. degree from the University of Toronto.

The Dead Sea Scrolls and the Origins of Christianity, by Peter Galin.

The discovery within the last several years of the Dead Sea Scrolls has revolutionized our understanding of the biblical period. These scrolls, which were written in the Hebrew language, are the first complete manuscripts of the Pentateuch to be discovered.

For the most part, these scrolls have been written in the Dead Sea Scrolls, which are the earliest manuscripts of the Old Testament to be discovered.

(Ed. Note. A group of Assumption Students attended the Compass Institute's 1956 Year Book Convention in Cleveland, Ohio, last week. Among the group included Pat Suraci, Natalie Stasich, Mary Catherine Aldridge, Dave McLennan, Joe Curer, Mrs. E. C. LeBel, C.S.B., last year's P & W editor, and this year's Yearbook editor, Mr. Suraci comments on the trip.)

I was aware this year's Assumption College Press Convention had been a most stimulating source of information towards the preparation of the 1957 Assumption College Yearbook. As a result, we were able to receive a point of view, namely, the purpose of including the problem of technicalities. This was an authentic "uncompromising" approach to the purpose of the session.

The convention was a decided success. It is a fact that the technicalities have been greatly reduced, and the type of material included has been greatly increased.

small Universities, without journalism instruction, this problem was accomplished by providing both new and experienced staffs and basic instructors for the conferences. Valuable information was gleaned by the students, copy writers, editorial policy, and all other phases connected with the production of the magazine.

The social life of the convention was of great importance. It is well known that the convention was a pleasure to the students, and that the atmosphere was very friendly.

The opportunity for spreading and promoting Assumption University was greatly increased, and the conference was a great success.
Ed Chittaro Leads Crusaders

This year little Eddy Chittaro will lead the Crusaders. Assumption's Interim's squad last season under Bernie Hughey and three young guns enjoyed a very successful year and the new coach expects the present club to do just as well.

Eddy went to Assumption where he played basketball for three years. He spent two of them in the junior varsity under the exacting eye of Father Armstrong and one year of varsity under Gene Dennevan. In the second season with the juniors, his club won the V.I.C.A. final in London. The following year, his last in High School made him a All City team.

After graduating from Assumption High he entered Assumption University and played four seasons on clubs coached by Red Nantais. Eddy was an ideal three point man, handling and having tremendous play making.

Last year he obtained his teaching certificate and went to St. Peter's High in Peterboro to teach History. While he was there he coached the basketball, football, basketball, and track. It has been reported that the football club which Eddy began to rebuild has not lost just one game so far for this season.

When he was asked about his charges the coach felt confident that they would give a good account of themselves. Although the Varsity squad had not been selected and no one has officially reported to the junior varsity, the team will begin in the Interclass ranks.

Students In Hungary Revolt

This is the first of a series of Bulletins from NFCUS National Office, concerning World student affairs. The material contained may seem dated, and this is due to the necessity of making sure of the facts, and the difficulty in getting Student News Agency dispatches to us. It is strictly political, in the press releases concerning Hungary.

N.F.C.U.S. INTERNATIONAL AFFAIRS—October 24th, hundreds of thousands of students in three Hungarian cities went out to demonstrate against the Communist authorities. They were not permitted to demonstrate unless they had met certain required conditions for the whole country. The demonstration started in Budapest from the University of Budapest, the main university of the country. An estimated 300,000 students met at the University of Budapest. They were not permitted to demonstrate until they had met certain required conditions for the whole country.

The demonstration continued and spread to other cities, including Szeged, one of the southern cities near the Yugoslav frontier. They were not only prohibited from demonstrating but had to meet certain required conditions for the whole country.

WARSAW STUDENTS SHOUT

N.F.C.U.S. INTERNATIONAL AFFAIRS—Political agitation continues to spread amongst youth and workers in many parts of Poland; it grew when the momentous meeting between Polish and Soviet leaders was discontinued. On October 20th, a student demonstration was given the meeting of the Central Committee of the Polish Communist party.

The students said they were aware that "a provocation might play a part in the meeting." On Tuesday, students demonstrated and shouted "Long live the Polish party!" and "Down with any and all BURY!"

The results of the meeting are likely to influence the agitation in all parts of Poland, including the Polish republic. The government of social democracy, the present condition of the Polish republic, and the most important international condition for each nation in its way to socialism.

On October 4th, thousands of students demonstrated in the streets of Warsaw in an effort of foreign and labor unity. They issued an appeal to the students of other countries to join the struggle against the bourgeois domination of the Polish republic.

The demonstration ended with the students marching in unison to the university of Warsaw, where they were met by the students from other universities.

Everyone on campus seems to be connected with it somehow. The plastic sign is a "university" and its organizers claim it is the biggest thing that ever hit the campus. What is it all about?

We decided to investigate and here is what we found. Firstly, it is probably responsible for the fact that opponent is attached to our campus. Secondly, the best available talent in music, a group of educated directors and performers, can guarantee that it will be entertaining. "PURPLE AND WHITE"

VOX POPULI

Dear Mr. Editor:

Congratulations to the Assumption students and faculty for the truly splendid job they have done to redress the threat. I am particularly pleased that the Kwassmuth-Leddihn, made by that paper in the Dr. Kuehnelt-Leddihn report on Dr. Leddihn's views expressed his views could readily see the destruction of their own cross.

Is it not a commonplace of the press today, either making sweeping generalizations or conclusions or tidbits of information, or else referring a total solution of one's position by taking special片区. I am of course a pragmatist, and seeing them as the body of a thesis.

Let us hope that the writers of the Purple and White may never abandon this practice, but rather strive for accuracy in reporting.

Kuehnelt-Leddihn — Student's View

By CHAS. MCDONALD

Your recent appearance on our campus of one Dr. Erik von Kuehnelt-Leddihn was a thrilling experience. In fact, created a controversy which became extensive enough to reach into the editorial pages of the Windsor Daily Star. The Doctor is a man of international standing, all of whose experience and education, is the result of years of research in his field. He has written books on international conditions and political ideologies, and is an active contributor to twenty or more periodicals in North America and in the Continent. A lamentable statement of Dr. Leddihn's views expressed his views could readily see the destruction of their own cross.

It also struck me that he was very intuitive reasoning which did not always seem valid. Several times he attempted to draw a parallel between situations similar to the present and the future. However, I believe that the Doctor's views expressed his views could readily see the destruction of their own cross.

"However, if even many of us do some thinking which we might have done otherwise, and that reason alone justifies his coming to Assumption University is to be congratulated for being able to produce a few philosophers, thinkers, writers, artists, capable of somewhat more than merely grunting out the "party-line" philosophy, as it is called."

JOSEPH DZIVER: "The visit of Dr. Kuehnelt-Leddihn was obviously an intellectual treat for the more mature students; those interested in the critical discussions of the day. An idea that Dr. Kuehnelt-Leddihn is a living example of how and why the American form of democracy works so well. By allowing and even supporting those who think in one society, the society tends to flounder in its own sea of conformity and logical rebuttal. The Doctor's political position is frequently lumped with a monopoly in that broad. This attitude is one of the many recent tenable positions of the traditional Roman position in the field. Moreover, most of his colleagues in other fields of government."

"But the article is not without its weaknesses, particularly in the intellectual environment created. Leddihn's was a truly fine and fiery, burning, striving to provoke and even individuals who are not interested in what is more feasible."

First we must congratulate each and every member of the valiant junior football team. They have strengthened our resolve to build this team into a football team that will be the equal of any in the state. And we may all be proud of them, for they have lost only one game this year and that was to the mighty Muskegon. A team whose name around which a formidable league could be formulated. For instance, the number of teams should be limited to around six or eight. Each academic-year should have an appropriate number of representatives in accordance to their standings.

Keeping the number of teams down ensures strong competition and a minimum of forfeitures. An additional reason to adopt a few suggestions for this season which would guarantee a more sound and interesting league for the student body.

The picture before you denotes an average attendance. Carl Bernoske, famous from the Motor City, Detroit, a graduate of Holy Re-former High School, and is an Ideal Friend. His pivotal role of restless enthusiasm is bound in a number of academic, athletic, and social activities.

Carl's club memberships begin listing his vocal abilities to the Gle Club. His love for the opera and acting are taken up in the Drama Club. Looking for some of his members, he joined the French Club and his political outlook is brought about by the United Nations Club. He is a member of the yearbook staff, and will sing for you at the University Variety Show Dec. 9th, which should be one of the social highlights of the year. On the athletic side, Carl is a water polo player and his name is not to be denied that he was most reliable football supporter, as his goal was dotted with points from his school spirit, through rain and snow.

Now that we've met the Lancers, it is time to see what we can do for them. The school spirit, through rain and snow, will continue to be one of our prime concerns. For the first time in our history, the school has a real chance to compete with the other high schools in the city. Our team has the potential to win the championship, and we hope to do so.

On the athletic side, Carl is a water polo player and his name is not to be denied that he was most reliable football supporter, as his goal was dotted with points from his school spirit, through rain and snow.

C.U.P. Paper Discussed — Now at Conference

What was hailed as the most mature and sensible conference ever held by C.U.P. since it was created three years ago in the Christmas Senate, this meeting, which ended last Thursday, December 29th, with the adoption of a resolution which will form the basis for the Canadian University Press Conference in January 29, at 12:30. The speaker was R. K. Cowan, Director of Economic and Business Research, Chrysler of Canada, Ltd. The price was $50 for the chapeau of the Prime Minister, $10 for the chapeau of the Premier, and $5 for the chapeau of the Canadian Premier's and Prime Minister's hats which were stolen.

The hats were originally stolen, or otherwise acquired by University Newspaper editors from the political leaders in their respective provinces. The stalling contract, to permit national unity, was begun at the University of British Columbia, and was culminated, or so the editors thought, when the University of Western Ontario received the "Hat of the Year," that of Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent. All editors in possession of chapeaus, brought their hats to December 19th, to be displayed at the center.

The Purple and White delegate and editorially, planned to read the Hat of St. Laurent, from the University of Western Ontario, in a promotional stunt for the contest with the Mornin, Gazette, Hamilton, Ont., but when the opportunity to host the whole Shanghai, Frank Sweet and Denis Deneau could hardly resist the Temptation.

The hats were lifted, and while Mr. Sweet sang "sweet songs" of the past, Mr. Deneau sang "sweet songs" of the past, while some of the best ideas of student, community and national organizations were the subject of several panel discussions.

On the second day of the conference, the announcement of the theft of the Prime Minister's hat was made. The hat was stolen on December 23, and the SAC.

P & W Squeezes Censure Move

TORONTO, HART HOUSE—At the recent conference of The Canadian University Press Association, a motion of non-support of Mr. A. David Levy's Canadian University Post was passed (10 for, 8 against, 1 abstention, 1 absent). The close vote was a good indication of the storminess of discussion on this rather hot topic.

At the main objections to Mr. Levy's paper were that it was not run and controlled by undergraduates; that opinions expressed in this paper might be accepted as being the opinions of undergraduates, and as such might in some cases influence the public unfavourably with regard to students; and that this paper was, potentially, if not actually, a threat to the individual college papers in the line of national advertising. This last point was brought out most strongly by John T. Hyndman of the Universities of Toronto, Daily and the Varsity, both of which have had no part in their financial debts since the assembly of the Post.

At this point in the session a motion of censure of Mr. Levy and his Post was under consideration. The P & W squeezed this because it felt that the CUP had both right and constitutional responsibility to make any motions for or against the Post.

In actual practice, however, things stand pretty much the same as before the conference. Although the motion passed was moved that the CUP, in the paper, the dealings of any CUP member with the Post, be left up to his discretion. For some, this meant absolute resistance, for others, peaceful coexistence. Some really didn't care.

Ski Week-End Is Approaching

Interest in the forthcoming Assumption-Ski Weekend was stirred last Thursday when the History Club presented a Motion Picture on Skiing in the Rockies. The History Club and other ski enthusiasts will have the Cappa for the Coronet on February 7th. The display will be there until January 19.

Hats Off To Assumption

Purple and White delegates to the recent Canadian University Press Conference in Hart House, University of Toronto, performed a daring mid-day burglary of the eight hats belonging to the University Press's famous collection. The hats are those formerly belonging to Canada's Prime Minister and Premier's Colleagues, and were acquired by Lill's for the University Press. The hats have been stolen, and while Mr. Sweet sang "sweet songs" of the past, Mr. Deneau sang "sweet songs" of the past, while some of the best ideas of student, community and national organizations were the subject of several panel discussions.

Jnoy Monaghan Captures Ireland For Assumption

"People always accuse you of trying to sell Ireland when you talk about it. But you can't tour the Emerald Isle without talking about it afterwards," says Jnoy Monaghan, photographer and producer of the color motion picture, "Ireland," which he presented here on Sunday, Jan. 20, at 3 p.m., at Assumption High School Auditorium, under the auspices of The Christian Culture Series.

- At The Library

A few minutes of this famous dictionary have now been completed.

The aim of the Dictionary is to provide a balanced treatment of the over process day history and statistics, a veritable counts of original work, with a full consideration of industrial and applied aspects.

Jnoy Monaghan, Mississippi University's husband of the success, has been brought up in the tobacco fields of $2,000 square miles that took him from the Assumption of Ireland to Miami, Head, southern Florida, and the calm of the Irish Sea in the Arctic world. With his color camera in hand, he immediately was seen for the first time in the Old World and the New. For thirty years, he has been asked to produce on film the great variety of life and color that he discovered in human and natural forms of variety and color. It is filled with people of all sorts, gay, heart-warming, hard working and brimming with life.

"These adjectives apply with equal ease to Jnoy Monaghan. Even with a quick Irish wit and a musical touch that always surprises his listeners when they learn he was born in America, the tall, stocky Mr. Monaghan was brought up in the tobacco fields of Pennsylvania. After schooling he joined the Penn. Army and following six years with the force, he came back to the United States as a young man and earned a living in the Army. For over forty years he has been a professional in the Army and is considered the world's best

A friend of his, the famous screen star James Mason, was pouring the warmest, friendliest welcome to the Opera House and persuaded Mr. Mason to show his latest picture. One atmosphere filled with Mason's appearance as an actor.

The year of this book presents the history of engineering as one of the most important of the world's great ideas. It points out how various factors in the physical and cultural environment conditioned engineering advance, and it shows how intimately the history of engineering is linked with the rest of society.

This book is primarily designed to attract students to the study of chemical engineering, but it is of interest in the relation of chemical structure to industrial activity.

Arts Hall is apparently showering stage blood on the latest addition to the music scene in the dance history. The dance is scheduled for Friday, February 15th, at the balloon in the Sherman-Carolls Hotel, Detroit's finest (Michigan Ave., at Washington Blvd.).

The book is primarily designed for a travelogue of Ireland in years; the films on Ireland in years; the history, folk lore, topography, curiosities of the island.

The read is excellent, the color, the motion and the music. The story is told in a natural way by Miss Catherine Shaver, an associate of Mr. Monaghan at The Library of Congress.

Miss Mary Catherine Shawer has been set aside for the Division, said Dr. DeMarco. Miss Shawer is a graduate of Assumption University, and was given the scholarship the previous year. Miss Shawer is a graduate of Assumption University, and was given the scholarship the previous year.

Ray Eberle for the top. He made eight feature films and six short subjects for standard and was star of his own radio show from California. However the call to the service of the United States Army, he started his career with the old Miller Band.

Coming back after a service hitch, Eberle started again doing his regular engagements in the East and Mid-West and proved he had lost none of his public popularity. He has been featured twice a week on WEDP-TV, and is a great favorite wherever he appears. His years of experience have given him a star a good idea of what the people want and Ray is prepared both vocally and otherwise to fill the bill.

ONE TOP NOTCH ASSUMPTION STUDENT TO RECEIVE THREE YEAR UNIVERSITY SCHOLARSHIP AT THE SIXTH INTERNATIONAL SEMINAR!

The University of Western Ontario has announced that the 8th International Seminar will be held during June-July, 1957, at the University College of the Gold Coast. The three-week seminar is known as "AFRICA AND TOMORROW"—a study of the aims and problems of developing countries, and will be preceded by an orientation programme and study tours in West Africa.

This will be the first university gathering of this kind held ever in West Africa. It will be attended by students, professors, members of the international press, and experts from some 20 countries in Africa, Asia, Europe, the Middle East and North America.

The objective is to draw students from 10 institutions from their usual academic and political activities in order to become interested in the "big picture". The seminar will bring together the students, their professors, and invited experts in a series of presentations and group discussions. The participants will be asked to express their views on a specific topic, and to contribute to the outcomes of the seminar.

The scholarships are open to Canadian students currently enrolled in full-time study. Applicants should currently be students within one year of graduation, or recent graduates who will be returning to university for at least another year's study; exceptions may be made under specific circumstances.

Applicants should combine good scholarship and leadership qualities. If they are to learn from the experience of living among people of a different culture, they must be understanding and receptive. As they will represent Canada in meeting with students from other parts of the world, they should be qualified to be treated as Canadians. The selection will be based on intellectual and emotional maturity, academic standing, and participation in campus activities. Interests and activities will be considered priorities in the selection of participants.

Applicants must be willing to take an active part in the program. They must be prepared to become fully involved in their campus life. Therefore, they must be willing to attend sessions, and participate in the seminars and discussions. They must also be prepared to take on leadership roles in their own communities, and to be willing to take on leadership roles in their own communities.

Applicants must be in good health, and submit a medical certificate to this effect with their application forms. If they are accepted, they will be required to contribute $250 towards the cost of the programme. Participants should carry their fellow-students and members of the community through their experiences and evaluating them to the University President, and to the University Council. Applicants must be willing to carry out the responsibilities of leadership, and to be willing to participate in the work of WUS on their own campus, including projects such as the Treasury Van sale.

Applicants must be members of the University of Toronto last year, to lead the Mustangs will be Ray Monnot, another all-star from last year, to lead the Mustangs. Coach Johnny Metras should be starting his second season as Western's head coach. The schedule will include ten games, seven of which will be played at the University of Western Ontario's varsity gymnasium. The team will play its first ten games at home, and will play its last three games on the road. Coach Mike McGhee may have to deal with some of the team's new players. Coach Mike McGhee has been working with the team for the past three years, and has been preparing them for the upcoming season. The team's poor showing to date, when they trounced the Mustangs, will have to be considered when evaluating them for the University President.

Government Apartheid Moves Announce Protests

The South African Government has announced the introduction of a new policy of 'non-segregation' in the education and training of blacks. This move is intended to accommodate every kind of policy from the University of South Africa to the establishment of separate institutions for non-Whites. Legislation to enforce apartheid is being prepared, and the Minister of Education has expressed his intention of introducing a policy of non-segregation at universities throughout the country.

Between 1946 and 1950 the Government, in an attempt to enforce its policy of residential segregation, introduced a number of administrative measures calculated to prevent the teaching of races other than whites at the open Universities. In the case of the University of South Africa, African students were excluded from the University. In the case of the Universities in the Cape Province, African students were admitted to the University but were not allowed to take part in the examinations. In the case of the University of the Witwatersrand, African students were allowed to take part in the examinations but were not allowed to enter the University. In the case of the University of the Transvaal, African students were not allowed to enter the University at all.

At the two remaining Universities, the University of the Witwatersrand and the University of Cape Town, there is no segregation in regard to the admission of students, except that the University of Cape Town (Rhodesia) is not admitted to the University. The University of the Witwatersrand is a long-standing agreement with the University of Cape Town, which is the only University in the country that is not segregated.

In 1953, the University of the Witwatersrand announced its intention of introducing a policy of non-segregation in the Universities, but the Government, in an attempt to enforce its policy of residential segregation, introduced a number of administrative measures calculated to prevent the teaching of races other than whites at the University. The Commission heard evidence from a number of experts, and the Minister of Education expressed his intention of introducing a policy of non-segregation at universities throughout the country. It was too soon to say whether the Government would be prepared to introduce a policy of non-segregation, and it was uncertain whether the Government would be prepared to introduce a policy of non-segregation, and it was uncertain whether the Government would be prepared to introduce a policy of non-segregation.

In connection with this, it is perhaps of interest to note that by far the greatest number of Hungarian students studied technical subjects, economics, science, whereas infinitely few studied languages or history.

'57 Stratford Season Planned
The Stratford Shakespearian Festival committee has disclosed the plans for their 1957 season.

Featured in this year's program will be the Symphony Orchestra of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation under the direction of Geoffrey Wedgwood, guest conductors and featured soloists will be announced later.

Jazz will also be included in the festival under such artists as Count Basie and his orchestra, singer Billie Holiday, Tenorian Jon Callier Quintet, the Gerry Mulligan Quartet, and pianist Talley Welman. The English opera group will present Benjamin Britten's The Turn of the Screw.

On the dramatic side, the Shakespeare plays to be featured are Hamlet and Twelfth Night.

The talented Irish actress Siobhan McKenna and the Canadian actor Christopher Summer will play prominent roles in each production. Only two plays will be included in the program: The White Mamba and Pressed Flowers.

The location of this summer festival will be the Stratford Festival Theatre, a permanent theatre. This is in contrast to the brief theatrical stage of former years.

Quite recently in the Windsor Daily Star a story appeared about a tremendous development project out in British Columbia. This project includes the building of a monorail through the vast and rugged terrain, as well as the development of minerals, timber stands and hydro-electric power developments in an area of about 40,000 square miles. It is not our purpose here to praise Mr. Wenner-Gren for waiting to see what the people of the world will do, but who will be making the big profits? Will it be the Canadian people? Will the taxes be any lower, or as low as they might be if the government controlled this great source of wealth?

What's with the Canadian Government? Rather than trying to absorb some of these resources, they sit idly by and watch as others profit from them. It is, in some ways far better than Canada. Who is building and mining the great potential of the DEW line? Who is doing the same thing in the industrial area of Windsor?

Then, does this leave us, the Canadians of today and tomorrow, as a nation, from a country whose foreign policy seems to be one of stating and then climbing on the wagon with a great "Me, too!"? Have we no pride, that we are not the leaders of the world, but the followers? Apparently nothing.

This weekend the Assumption University U.N. Club is playing host to and sponsoring a model Security Council in which the University is to give this our fullest support and show the Club that its opinion must not only be emotional and intellectual. It must be fact accompli.

SIR: Thank you very much for your letter of July 25. I assure you that Mr. Hemingway would be most gratified by the interest which you have taken in his work. We must keep in mind at all times that "Time waits for no man" and that time to take a walk over to St. Mary's Church is time well spent.

Chris McCaffrey

Students of Assumption University are the best. A good point. I'm guilty of this myself. I attempt to give the '11.2.2.2.2.' of De profundis a 10% lift. I could have done better.

We live in an industrial area of Windsor where our every thought as to why our lives are as blest as they are and why we are able to operate. On Monday, February 11th, Centennial Mass was celebrated at Assumption. The number of attendance was embarrassingly small. Surely, out of all the students, there must be about three thousand who are Roman Catholics. Those who did not attend certainly missed something beautiful — spiritually, emotionally and physically. It is bitter sweet to see students, who are interested in the course of their lives, being "missing the boat" by only a few minutes. There is no longer a leader, but the leader. However, with all respect to Mr. Deneau's letter, does it ever occur to the young American that there is a habit of mind which lasts through no fault of their own.

In a recent issue of the P&VV (The Purple and White), there is an article which seems to have stirred up a hornet's nest, a very small one. Here are some of the comments.

In reply to the article printed in our Purple and White by a budding, not-so-dillegent, freshman I have just one word, "Malarky."

Our colleague, Mr. Hemingway, proclaims that a High School student—more prevalent on our campus—wondered, did it ever occur to the reader that a large number of students are only one year out of High School? Contrary to his belief, the awe-inspiring change from casual High School student to intense intellectual does not take place overnight. Another instruction that he makes is that materialism on the campus need be ashamed of their knowledge. Well, I've been going to A.U. for a few months now, and I have yet to meet one student mining the true cause he is, in the words of a great author, "a leader." I think that the primary feeling toward a good student is that he is "missing the boot" by only a few minutes. I could have done better.

The reason that most people go to college today is to be able to acquire the material things of life, for not for the love of learning. This attitude has not rubbed off on me. I'm standing college, and it is also the same with my friends.

After reading this, you may get the wrong idea. But this is not what I'm trying to convey. The money should be spent on school. We must keep in mind that the main purpose is to develop our minds, both physically and mentally, and anything short of that is not the purpose of education. When we graduate, we are to have our own share, and to our parents to make the best of it. We are to immerse ourselves, to try to do everything possible to accomplish this success.

HUGH MURRAY

The answer to this question is "no." The reason why is too much more important and much more involved. However, the term which the "anti-intellectual" attaches to the student is "materialistic". The connexion between being "intellectual" and being "materialistic" is the very same idea by the motive of the student for attaining a higher level. If the motive of a person is to attain knowledge, surely it is any other than the seeking for a Liberal Education. The idea of education for the world — the idea of making a better man — which the "anti-intellectual" attaches to the student is "materialistic". "Oldtimers" are thinking back to the days when basketball was a low-scoring sport. The Macs have been playing together for many years, and the box score filled with names like "Alan Mack, Mike MacKenzie, John Bisset, H T Hoffman, Pat Higgins, Ian Allison and Er. Armstrong." Rowe of the players will be arguing that players like Woody Cudmore, Ron Truitt, Bill McLean, Bob Howard, Brian and Joe "Billy" Thomas had a starring role in basketball scores. The Macs have always been able to maintain a balanced offense with the assists going to the lesser players. The Macs were outstanding in the first regular season games. They played out of the Eastern Conference, winning all three games. In the second regular season game, they defeated the Flames 65-60. Leo Girard, playing his first game, was the second highest scorer of the night with 16 points. Phil MacKenzie broke Monnot's old record of 25 points to the winning cause. No other player scored a point in a losing effort. If both teams are falling behind, the Macs will take the lead in a scoring laurels. They have now played 28 games, with a total of 675 points. Mac is a cinch to be the only top scorer in the Niagara District. He was voted the "56" Olympic games in Montreal by the National Basketball Association. He is the "56" Olympic games in his senior year when he was voted the "56" Olympic games in the Niagara District. He was voted the "56" Olympic games in Assumption's all-time great basketball players. Dick was undecided as to his future, but the attention of one of Assumption's outstanding mannequin arose, we felt that the initial reason for the theft was the lack of excitement over the game. Upon our arrival, we felt that the team was more interested in the game. TheMac's success in the past few years, leading the team to being considered one of Assumption's all-time great basketball players, has been Dick MacKenzie's and...

The Greatest Ever... The '57 Ambassador

The 1957 Ambassador is a class in itself, because of the uniqueness of the year which it portrays. This is a year celebrating the one hundred anniversary of the school and also a year inaugurating Assumption as a University with a tremendous expansion plan. These events, together with their uman spirit, have been captured and embodied as an original theme.

The theme is presented on the cover and carried through the division pages and layout of the book. The book is ultra modern, reflecting the trends of the present day. More care and time has been spent on each picture to convey fully the principal theme. Our writers have been generous in order to state the necessary facts of each item. Copy, headlines and captions have each been written in the same style to give unity.

The book will be a radical contrast to those of previous years. We are attempting to avoid conventionalism, dizziness of theme and design, and neglect of the future value of the book. The Advertising Bureau has made possible extra pages making this yearbook the largest at Assumption.

We are attempting to avoid conventionalism, disunity of theme. Our writers have been generous in order to state the necessary facts of each item. Copy, headlines and captions have each been written in the same style to give unity.

The snow melting, gave to the ground a freshness and cleanliness. The shrinking patches of snow revealed greening grass. Birds rose and soared in the sky and the last vestiges of the winter were being forgotten by the trees. Though the sun was still hidden by the clouds you could feel it. On the leaves, you could feel it. And though the trees were bare, you could feel it. It was there. You could feel it. There was a light breeze and it blew to her the sweet smell of the freshly-greening grass. Birds rose and soared in the sky.

The breeze was still a little chilly and the sun hadn't come out yet.

It was a favourite place for her to go. The trees formed a semi-circle and where one enormous tree stood planted in the center, its huge branches spread out like a cool, green umbrella. Her bench was in the open and when she leaned her head back she could look right down through the branches to see the sparrows and on past the uppermost branches and right up to the sky. But the sky was still far away. Sometimes, sitting like this with her legs crossed at the ankles and her hands in the pockets of her light jacket, she dreamed. She dreamed that there was a light breeze and it blew to her the sweet smell of the freshly-greening grass. Birds rose and soared in the sky.

She knew she shouldn't dream, that dreaming was bad for her because she always remembered what she dreamed. She couldn't remember what she dreamt when she had dreamed. She had always dreamed. Only about different things. That's all.

But she wanted to look at herself now. She took the pocket mirror out of the purse and held it close to her face. It caught the light from her right eye, tickling her.

'Yes, of course. Many of my friends like there. We used to have parties there last year. Maybe the same crowd won't be there now. Maybe they left after the war.' She turned around then and in that winning smile, she thought, this is the way Autumn begins — with a sudden chill and a decrease.
A Philosophy For The Herb

Democracy: Father Boland: Youth In France

To youth, brooding, talky and largely inarticulate, practically everything in France is wrong. The bright hopes of the Liberation have turned to disillusion. Young politicians who left France to become have become part of the sticky, self-perpetuating system. Since the war they have been inflated so badly that they think it is a virtue to consider a virtue. The army lost face in 1940 and lost its cadres in 1944. The French have become disillusioned during the degenerate days of the 30's, has been shot into hollowness by Communists and the post-war economic crisis has exploded into an invisible Maginot Line for the defense of the nervous and immaginative. However, if there is any evidence of liberalism, social security and subsidies at the bottom they take care of the worker and the farmer.

There was a time when political theories and politicians swallowed the names of the Papal See and the Noble Savages. Mirabeau and his turbaned lackey Steyn, un-derstood not a single European text. When, however, the Reign of Terror had blood-stained gates; then the pope in the high altar of Notre Dame Cathedral as their Goddess of Liberty. But in the middle of the 19th and 20th centuries, the papal dogmas were produced Cromwell and Puritans; eighteenth century France began to act on the principle that the Christian religion was not a part of French society; twentieth century North America democracy has spawled Comminism.

But the mass of the people are moved rather by appetite than by principles and the idea that the people's will is the sum of the good decisions of 5,000 men. The French have been taught to take their place. Since then, it has been offered economic stagnation, social emptiness and political hypocrisy, but the very rich are more materialistic, more socially security and subsidies than the people. The people, not the pope, by the Acta Sanctae Sedis, xiv (1896), p. 4: "Nor does the democratic claptrap of "popular sovereignty" sit any better in the state than does the idea of the people's liberty. With these, however, theencyclical Diuturnum illud deals a serious blow to the vareigated ideological currents that swept through the '30's was largely led by family breadwinners. Of the 2,880,000 youngsters of both sexes between 15 and 19 years of age, fewer than 800,000 are in public or private secondary schools—the majority of them (50%) the sons of comfortable families. Internally, because of the French population, see less than 3% of their children to a university.

Even if operation were democratized, schools and universities would not have the physical plan to handle more youngsters—low teachers have been forced to cut classes and, in many cases, pay teachers are common. When former French Minister of Social Security introduced on a large scale by the Popular Front government, those who are paid by the government to rule are found to be themselves ready to die for their faith, a surprising anti-clericalism persists. Moreover, in true Latin Quarter fashion, kids mash it up in doorways, in cafes and talk about women or sports. Students don't live in dormitories; they live in small apartments and have few companions. There is heavy indifference to politics, a feeling not of apathy but of resignation. The idea of compromise is the key word. The iron rules that swept through the '30's was largely led by family breadwinners. Of the 2,880,000 youngsters of both sexes between 15 and 19 years of age, fewer than 800,000 are in public or private secondary schools—the majority of them (50%) the sons of comfortable families. Internally, because of the French population, see less than 3% of their children to a university.

On the next level, agriculture and labour, which represent 2/3 of the French population, had a program to benefit youth in 1954, he found a cautious but wide-spread response. Unfortunately, it didn't last—the French younger generation slid back into collective indifference. Many workers in both parts of either party and have quit the unions altogether: "the biggest union in France is the disunion of the unaffiliated." A militant pro-Communist than a radical. Turning back to past glories, especially to the prosperous days of 1900, one is struck by the indifference of the unaffiliated to politics, a feeling not of apathy but of resignation. The idea of compromise is the key word. The iron rules that swept through the '30's was largely led by family breadwinners. "Culture is what remains when everything else is forgotten." runs an old French proverb. Consequently, super-superficial tradition has swept through the '30's was largely led by family breadwinners. When for instance, the young generation that came to power in the 1950's have been taught to take their place. Since then, it has been offered economic stagnation, social emptiness and political hypocrisy, but the very rich are more materialistic, more socially security and subsidies than the people. One of the most gifted film makers in the world is Orson Welles, and its good to be in music these days when Poking Fun At Orson is such a popular pastime. Comparisons between the film and the Shakespearean original are pointless. Representative and Elizabethan tragedy have little in common, what is important, whether or not this film, as a film is good to see. It is the music—recently issued in a new orchestral and electronically amplified version—has bite and barbarity.

In such a film, acting performances are of secondary importance, but the music, I am sure, has been chosen: Suzanne Cloutier is the sweetest, most sensible Desdemona whom we have ever seen; Michael Mantle’s Iain is not a demon for evil men; and therefore more wholesome: Welles, in the title role, uses his baritone voice like a virtuoso and has the good sense to hire: no more than he, as an actor, can do the rest. Yet sometimes it allows the camera to dwell on the more expressive face, but his big emotional moments he does from half a block away.

The film is not flawless, but its most for you, and what tricks you never felt it “did anything” for you? The most remarkable feature of the film is the way it shows the weakness of the old movie, the feeble attempt at flattery rather than in—

Dick Moriarty

Now that the final chapter of the Centennial Basketball Season has been successfully written into history's books, Assumption fans will be settling down to the perennial pastime of comparing this year's Lancer edition with former Purple Raider teams, trying to determine what was the deciding factor in the Lancer's success and finally looking to the future and the defense of the trophy which has finally been wrested from Western after a stay of 15 years. There is a variance of opinion as to how his year's team stacks up against former great Assumption's athletic tradition. With this in mind, every Assumption fan can be proud of his role in the team's success this year, and can look forward to next season's defense of our championship.

Congratulations to everyone on the work in Assumption's championship effort.

By the beard you shall know them... the men and the boys!

For those in the swing of things, it's Golf. Tee anyone?

Victory Banquet
At Prince Edward
Sunday, March 23, at 6:30, in the Grand Ballroom of the Prince Edward Hotel, Assumption's Athletic Council will be hosted. An interesting program has been drawn up and will include a speaker from a well known professional sport. Music will be supplied by the Gerry Bronfman Trio and it is hoped that many students will turn out to honor the champions, purchased from any member of the athletic council namely: Rod Scott, John Denesi, Ed Sabga, Mike Roche, Mike Saffran and Pete Metras. This is a real opportunity for all the students, men and women to show the Lancers and the other athletes of the school how much they appreciate the job they have done in bringing to our campus the Senior Intercollegiate Crown. Many notable guests will feature the entertaining card with a movie on a two sport mostrar at the close of the celebration for all those wishing to view it. Come one Come all to laud our champions.

Menagerie Great Success

From March 29 to 31, at Assumption High School Auditorium, the Assumption University Players presented Tennessee Williams' "The Glass Menagerie," one of the author's most original and emotional works. This play beautifully captures the spirit of the time and is thoroughly enjoyed by the audience. The director, Mr. Thomas, has made good use of the resources available to him and has given fine direction and production to the play. He has also been excellent in his casting and has made much use of the excellent acting talent that is available in our school. The play has been very popular and has received a most enthusiastic reception from the audience.
The Editor: Recent Reactions

With great pleasure and not a little amusement we have studied the reactions occasioned by the last edition of the Purple and White. We have sounded out student and faculty opinion and are confident that we have made it a truly worthy representative of Assumption University. It is our intention to discuss with all of you in this Editorial some of the recent reactions which followed hot on the heels of the last issue of this publication.

From the democratic corner: "Lies, distortions, misrepresentations! You've told only half the truth; there's more to democracy than just Rousseau!" Really! What a cock-and-bull story. In five thousand years of recorded human history, be so kind as to find for us one single instance of a functioning democracy which was not based on the principles of the democratic spirit. We readily concede that there are political theorists writing today who try desperately hard to give classical democracy an image out of which some of us have been led to demand the name of 'Christian'. But with such pretensions our last publication was not concerned. We have here, in the Leonine heresy (v. the encyclical Diuturnum illud, June 29, 1881); if it is heresy to criticise major institutions (proven to be fallible on many occasions), there should also be ample allowance for the criticism of the paper this year to bother to write a letter to the P & W. If later myself in thinking that any part of the work which was submitted, even if it was rather evident that there is some potential right here and now — that this school could become a centre of creative writings. As for letters to the editor, it may be that I later myself, in thinking that any one was concerned enough about the paper this year to bother to write a letter to the P & W — concerning anything said in it.

This paper should not be afraid of anything. As far as within proper bounds. This does not mean criticism, but rather evolution, which is at least steady, or possibly accelerating. The P & W this year has tried to expand its horizons. For instance, the criticism given to Tangents in Ink both by students and by others seems to show any interest in the paper this year that couldn't be satisfied by the students. Effectively it should become an intellectual agora, that is to say, it should serve as a common meeting place for the exchange of ideas between the students and between the students and the faculty.

Ideas On A College Newspaper

A college newspaper should serve as a means of expression for the student — a means of opportunity to do a lot of your students and faculty in the right direction. It may be a truly valuable experience to have made it a truly worthy representative of Assumption University. In view of the further attempt at a solution of the Kashmir problem, Dr. Conrad, who has been permitted to enquire as to the origin of the dispute, has offered his services.

At the outset one should recall that Kashmir is an extremely mountainous and densely populated area. It has been a part of the region for more than 100 years, and the relationship between Kashmir and India has been complicated by the presence of a large Muslim minority within a predominantly Hindu population.

The championship of the Kashmir government for independence was spearheaded by the Indian National Congress, which was formed in 1885. The Congress was a political party that sought to promote the interests of the Indian people and to achieve independence from British rule.

The country was partitioned in 1947 on the basis of the Indian Independence Act, which was passed by the British Parliament. The partition resulted in the creation of two separate states, India and Pakistan, each with its own government.

India gained independence from British rule in 1947, and Pakistan was established as a separate state in 1948. The Kashmir region was initially governed by the Indian government, but it was never fully integrated into the Indian Union, and tensions between India and Pakistan continued to simmer.

In 1948, India annexed the state of Jammu and Kashmir, which was under the control of the Indian government. Pakistan argued that it should have been granted the right to vote on the issue, and the United Nations Security Council was called upon to intervene.

The United Nations Security Council passed Resolution 47, which called for a cease-fire and the holding of a plebiscite in the Kashmir region. However, the plebiscite was never held, and the situation in Kashmir remained tense.

This is the fascinating story of the French regime in Canada. Few periods in this history of the nation have been more stirring and dramatic than the period which ended with the death of Louis XIV.
