CONTRIBUTORS

Mary Louise Drake is an associate professor in the School of Nursing at the University of Windsor. Her interests are obstetrics and community health. She completed midwifery studies in England. As well, she has worked in Africa and in the Middle East.

Anne Forrest's research is at the intersection of industrial relations and women's issues. She has presented papers at the annual meeting of the Canadian Industrial Relations Association. These papers gave a feminist perspective on such themes as unions and women, sexual harassment in the workplace, and collective bargaining. Her feminist interpretations of industrial law and the politics of the union movement have led to grants from the University of Windsor and SSHRCC and to publication of a number of articles and chapters in books.

Maureen Muldoon, an ethicist with an interest in a wide range of health care issues, is associate professor in the Department of Religious Studies at the University of Windsor and a bioethics consultant for Hotel-Dieu Grace Hospital in Windsor. She has published a sourcebook and an annotated bibliography on the abortion debate. Currently she is pursuing research on clergy ethics in the Anglican and United Churches in Ontario and Saskatchewan.

Alan Sears' research focuses on a range of topics including sociological theory and the social aspects of HIV/AIDS. With Barry Adam and Glen Schellenberg, he has been awarded a grant from the National Health Research and Development Programme to continue research on "AIDS and Safer Sex Strategies." Recent articles have appeared in Medical Anthropology, The Canadian Review of Sociology and Anthropology and the Windsor Review of Law and Social Issues. Dr Sears is an associate professor in the Department of Sociology and Anthropology at the University of Windsor.
