Special Service Marks Consecration Of Seventh Bishop Of Niagara

Rt. Rev. Walter E. Bagnall was consecrated as seventh Bishop of Niagara at a special service held in Christ's church cathedral, Niagara Falls. The church, built in 1875, was recently renovated for important event. Clergymen, who came from all over country, are shown lining the sidewalk, as visiting high churchmen march into the church for ceremony.

ROSE PETALS

Once before in this column we made mention of the miraculous shower of rose petals which followed the apparition of the Blessed Mother to a Filipino novice. From the "Catholic Herald Citizen:"

"Some of the rose petals which have been showered from the sky on the Carmel Convent at Lipa have been sent to the Hong Kong Carmel, reports Fr. Maurice Ahern. Father Ahern says that the petals are red in color, have kept their original shape, and have not dried up or wilted.

"As a result of the Lipa happenings, many cures and conversions have been reported. A prominent army officer, a Mason, was finally persuaded by his wife to accompany her to Lipa. While she visited the Carmel, he sat outside in his car. Suddenly he saw rose petals falling from the sky. Despite the fact that it was a windy day, the petals fell straight down. The officer is now organizing pilgrimages to Lipa."

NOTICE

On Monday evening at 5.30, the Venerable Archdeacon Westgate will turn the first sod for the new Anglican Church, at the corner of Gladstone and George Ave., LaSalle. Addresses will be made by Mayor Chappus and several of the clergy.

A cordial invitation is extended to all.

JERUSALEM, OUR HOME

We feel that the U.N. and the Israel government are ignoring many historical facts in not making Jerusalem an International City. From the "Catholic Press:"

"One of the objections against internationalizing Jerusalem is that the Holy City would then become a financial burden on the United Nations and the rest of the world.

"Those who allege this objection, overlook the following facts:

"1. As the sanctuary sacred to the three great monotheistic religions, Christianity, Mohammedanism, and Judaism, it is one of the greatest tourist attractions holding a religious appeal for 850 million people, one-third of the earth's population . . .

"2. There are many religious institutions in the Holy City which Christians throughout the world have long supported . . .

"3. Jerusalem has always been a prosperous city and even under Turkish, and especially British administration, needed no financial backing."

HOLIDAYS

Mr. and Mrs. Gene Gignac and Miss Janette Gignac of Front Rd., LaSalle, have returned to their home after a pleasant motor trip through Eastern Ontario and Quebec.

Safety Patrol

Thanks to the Community of LaSalle and River Canard we now have Safety Patrol work for both Communities and we sincerely hope that the children and the parents will cooperate with the patrol boys every way to lighten their burden and make it a little easier for concerned.

WOMEN'S GUILD OF ST. ANDREWS MEMORIAL APPRECIATE ATTENDANCE

The Women's Guild of St. Andrews Memorial Church, LaSalle, wish to thank sincerely their friends of LaSalle and vicinity for their attendance and kind co-operation at their bazaar, which was held in the Rainbow Garden on September 21 and 22.

Gate prize winners were: First Prize, Mr. Percy Newell, 1479 Lillian St., Windsor; Second Prize, Mr. Tom Robinson, LaSalle; Third Prize W. Middleditch, 867 London St. W., Windsor; Fourth Prize, Mrs. J. Cook, 224 McEwan Ave., Windsor; Fifth Prize, D. Meharg, Ojibway.

Special Drawing for the ton of coal, donated by the Amherst Fuel and Supply Co., went to A. Love, 3317 Edison St., Windsor.

The lucky ticket for the rug, donated by Mrs. Tom Robinson, was held by Mrs. H. Lenover, River Canard.

Mrs. W. Bryce of Major Blvd., LaSalle, won the doily donated by Mrs. Gates of Windsor.

Mrs. Frank Bergeron won the permanent wave donated by Miss Julie Gignac for a special prize.

TOWN BY TOWN

This phrase seems to sum up the mass conversion that is now taking place in Japan. These news bits are from "Chronicle:"

"In the Diocese of Oskó, four additional towns and villages have appeared for instruction in the Faith. In the Kyota area mayors of four communities arranged for a priest to start a parish . . .

"The mass conversions started last year when the 9,000 inhabitants of Mizu, assembled in town meeting, voted to enter the Church as a community."

Wedding

On Saturday Sept. 17, Marjorie Laframboise daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Laframboise of LaSalle was united in marriage to Mr. Floyd Meloche.

The Rev. Father Paul officiated at the morning ceremony Sacred Heart Church, at which Miss Marjorie Laframboise became the bride of Mr. Floyd Meloche son of Mr. and Mrs. Earcane Meloche.

The bride, given in marriage by her father was gowned in white heavy satin, styled with a sweetheart necklace, long sleeves forming points over her hands and a full skirt extending into a slight train. Her three quarter length blushing veil was plain and carried a waterfall prayer book with gardenias.

Miss Dily Meloche as bridesmaid and carried a colonial bouquet of white roses and white mums.

Miss Martha Laframboise as bridesmaid was gowned in white satin and carried a colonial bouquet of white roses and white mums.

Miss Shirley Moreau as bridesmaid was gowned in white satin and carried a colonial bouquet of white roses and white mums.

Theresa Bondy as matron of honor was gowned in white satin and carried a colonial bouquet of white roses and white mums.

Gloria Jean Lucier as flower girl was gowned in white taffeta and carried a basket of white roses and white mums.

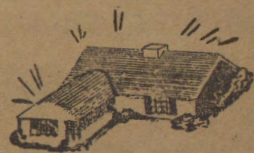

Clinton Beaudoin, Alphonse Bondy and Ernest Meloche were bestman. Mr. Robert Laframboise was ring carrier while Mr. Roy and Mark Meloche were ushers. Mrs. Ernest Meloche (cousin of the bride) and Margerite Bondy sang the wedding mass, and Ave Maria.

Mrs. Laframboise chose for her daughters wedding a white jersey dress with wine accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

AMERICAN WOMEN SEEN OVER-IDLIZED AND SPOILED BY MEN

The most idolized woman in the world, America's Eve is by general consent the best looking and among the best dressed. She has a remarkably fine figure, is exceptionally intelligent, has more privileges, more legal rights and more property than women have held anywhere at any time. Yet, declares Leland Stowe, in the October Reader's Digest, the American woman (thanks largely to men) is the most spoiled and self-centered in the world, the most aggressive and the least happy. She is less feminine, less interested in husband, home and family than are women of other lands. She is the world's most expensive woman. She is more restless and bored, and is less spiritual and has less individuality than women anywhere else on earth.

aren't aggressive, observe them at bargain counters, Stowe suggests. Watch how they capitalize on the "women first" tradition—in railroad stations, elevators, buses and ticket lines. "It is only in America that women have a special prerogative to be rude."

These are the conclusions, Stowe says, of a "distinguished array of psychoanalysts and sociologists, of most foreigners who have spent much time in the United States, and of an increasing number of traveled Americans." They are Stowe's conclusions, too, based on observations abroad and at home during 20 years as a foreign correspondent. His article is condensed from Esquire.

Do you doubt that the American woman is the most spoiled and self-centered in the world? Watch how "presumptuously she waits for some male to light her cigarette," and note that "the obliging male frequently gets not even a nod for his pains."

If you think American women are not aggressive, observe them at bargain counters, Stowe suggests. Watch how they capitalize on the "women first" tradition—in railroad stations, elevators, buses and ticket lines. "It is only in America that women have a special prerogative to be rude."

Containing that American women lack individuality, Stowe observes that "only the most strong-minded succeed in resisting the terrific pressures toward uniformity. The fashion magazines, the beauticians and Hollywood exert a diabolical influence, leveling down women of all ages."

"The odd thing is that most of America's males seem fairly satisfied," the author concludes. "Women are what they are because of a lot of unconscious or intentional help from their men."
