TO

the late Reverend William J. Storey, C.S.B.

this volume is respectfully dedicated
Seventy-five years devoted to the enrichment of the souls of young men on the part of Assumption College calls for the warmest congratulations. To have held fast to eternal truths and made them irradiate all secular studies, TO HAVE KEPT GOD IN EDUCATION, on this sure foundation has Assumption's three-quarters of a century of service been founded. On this same foundation rests the reason for our joy in her planned expansion, and our hope that her future progress may be imbued with the same zeal and devotion to the deep wells of Divine Truth.

Battered was the word for Father "Bill" Storey. He had a broken nose and a tough appearance, masking a deeply humble spirit. He was a veteran of the classroom. Years at Toronto, Detroit and Houston had given him skill at handling any situation. He taught Physics, Chemistry and Botany, and his chalk-covered cassock at the end of a day revealed the fire and enthusiasm that twenty-five years teaching had not quenched.

He drove himself hard. Too hard, perhaps. After school he worked on the grounds. The hedges were neat because he cared for them. The flowers that grew along the edges of the walks, and formed vases of beauty in the vast green spaces surrounding Assumption, were his flowers. On winter week-ends, his sturdy little figure in the black top-coat with the turned-up collar, could be seen waiting for busses to take him on those long tiring trips to parishes in Michigan. As you watched him pulling down the old bent fedora over his eyes, you'd think sometimes that his little frame could never stand the buffeting. The time came in June, 1944, when his heart suddenly gave out.

The students had gone home for the summer, but they came back to fill the Church with all the other friends of Father Storey. They felt his death deeply, these students whom Father Storey had challenged to harder and manlier work in the years past. Somehow the thought remains that there is one memorial you cannot erase; the memory in the hearts of many boys of a little hard-working priest with a humble, lovable heart that was never closed to those about him.
With a keen wit and a keen mind, Father John McIntyre moved fast through life. Anyone who ever saw him mounting the four flights of stairs to the old "Jews'" flat at St. Michael's will vouch that there was a symbol of his spirit. He was a dying man during his last few years at Assumption, but he could not rest. He worked in the Bursar's office, handling the books and records: not an easy job at Assumption College. He was not in the public eye here, but before his breakdown, he was intensely active at Basilians' schools in Detroit and Toronto.

A good teacher, a tough teacher, he was always interested in the problem students, the boys on the verge of expulsion. Somehow, he understood them. He let them talk, let them bring their troubles in the open; then he made suggestions. They were practical suggestions too, bred of long experience, not impracticable theories or dry sermons. There are graduates successful today, who were once given up by other staff-members, even by their families. When you meet them they talk of one Basilian only: Father Johnny McIntyre. "You could talk to him," they say. When people say that about a priest, they imply many things: understanding, patience, sympathy, charity, friendliness and generosity. Perhaps especially generosity.

When death came, Father McIntyre fought it with little more than his nerve. He lay on his death-bed grinning weakly at the worried faces about him. The source of that final courage was an invincible faith. When he was blessed by priest friends, his right hand would creep weakly and slowly up to make the sign of the cross. He always found strength for that. Loyal himself, he had faith in the loyalty of Christ. It is perhaps more than coincidence that his skill at showing people how to meet problems successfully never lessened. He was practical even to the end: for by his own death he showed us how to die.
From then ..... ..... 'till now.

ASSUMPTION IN THE PAST

Mr. Theodule Girardot was born in France in 1824 and was successively teacher, dean and principal of Assumption College. It was Mr. Girardot who was instrumental in having the Basilian Fathers appointed to the College after his departure in 1870. He was public school inspector of North Essex from 1870 until his death in Sandwich in 1900, and served two terms as Mayor of Sandwich.

Seventy-Five Years of Progress at Assumption College

Assumption College is celebrating this year the Seventy-Fifth Anniversary of its administration by the Basilian Fathers. When Father Dennis O'Connor of the Congregation of St. Basil arrived in the village of Sandwich in August, 1870, with three other Basilian priests and the munificent sum of $300.00, he took over the administration of a school that had been conducted under other auspices from 1857.

The origins of Assumption College may be traced back to the return of the Jesuits to Assumption Parish in 1843. Father Pierre Point, the Jesuit pastor, was an exceptionally astute man and observed throughout his parish an appalling illiteracy and ignorance. His parish extended twenty miles along the Detroit River and Lake St. Clair and as far south as the Irish mission of Maidstone; in addition the parish conducted missions in Belle River, Tecumseh, Stoney Point, Chatham, Walpole, Raleigh and Tilbury. The parish numbered some 3,000 souls who were almost exclusively French-Canadian in nationality.

Father Point immediately introduced a network of elementary French-speaking schools in his parish, establishing by 1846 thirteen schools with an average enrollment of 80 to 100 students. His schools were among the first elementary schools of any kind in Western Ontario and anticipated by several years the introduction of public schools supported by governmental taxation (1854).

He encountered considerable opposition from members of his flock who remained unconvinced that there were benefits to be derived from education commensurate with their cost and maintenance. The civil authority also was rather hostile in the beginning, since the Ontario system of education under the direction of Dr. Egerton Ryerson was then only in the process of formation and the principle of denominational schools was not a matter of general agreement.

In spite of the faltering enthusiasm and latent antagonism that his project evoked, Father Point not only proceeded with his plans, but enlarged upon them. Recognizing the importance of secondary education, he was enabled to open a high school for girls in the parish presbytery in 1852 through the generosity of Mr. and Mrs. Antoine Beaubien of Detroit. (The first secondary school, or high school, was opened in the Windsor area in 1871 when the combined populations of Windsor and Sandwich totaled 5,413.)

In 1855 a secondary school for boys was erected on the parish grounds and was opened in 1857. The curriculum of Le College de l'Assomption consisted of preparatory, commercial and classical (high school) courses. The staff included laymen teaching under the direction of the Jesuit Fathers. During its early years instruction was given through the medium of the French language.

When Father Point and the Jesuits left the parish and the college in 1859, the school fell upon days of extreme adversity. Its survival was due principally to the indomitable zeal of Mr. Theodule Girardot who was successively teacher, dean and principal. Mr. Girardot was born in France in 1824 and devoted his life in Canada to the cause of education.

After heading the college for several years, Mr. Girardot as a layman began to feel unqualified to guide a student body largely preparing for the priesthood and so informed Bishop Walsh in London. The bishop asked him to recommend some religious congregation to replace him. Mr. Girardot suggested the Basilians because they were at the time one of the few bi-lingual religious communities in Canada. There was a French tradition in the community that had come to Canada from France less than a generation earlier; and, having become located in Toronto at St. Michael's College, there were persisting British and Irish influences. When Father O'Connor arrived in Sandwich, Mr. Girardot valiantly assisted him, even canvassing homes in the district for prospective students. Freed from his duties at the college, Mr. Girardot was appointed public school inspector for North Essex, which post he held until his death in Sandwich in 1900.

In the next twenty years, 1870-1890, Father Dennis O’Connor proved himself a worthy successor of Father Point and Mr. Girardot. In the very first year of his administration a college course was introduced; and although the growth of the school was unspectacular, it was steady. From a total enrollment of 29 students in 1870, the College grew until its attendance reached 150 at the turn of the century.

By 1890 when Father O’Connor left Assumption College to become Bishop of London and, later, Archbishop of Toronto, the College had expanded to three times its original dimensions. To the old classroom building, the original unit opened in 1857 and still in use, were added the southern wing of the present Administration Building in 1875 and the central wing including the refectory and infirmary in 1884.

Father O'Connor's assistants during his early years at the College were Fathers M. J. Ferguson, M. Mungovan, D. Cushing (president of the College, 1890-1901) and Robert McBrady (president, 1901-1907), names that are rich with legend in the story of Assumption.

With the administrations of Father Francis Forster, (1907-1919), and Father Joseph Muckle, (1919-1922) a new generation of Basilians took over and the pioneering age may be said to have passed. During these years the northern wing of the Administration Building in which the chapel is located, the gymnasium and the adjoining residence building were erected.

Undoubtedly, the most important event of this period was the agreement of affiliation of the college department with the University of Western Ontario, initiated by Bishop Fallon of the Diocese of London and completed in detail and signed in October, 1919. A summary of the terms of affiliation embraced in point 12 of the original document follows:

"The Assumption College shall constitute a College of Arts and as such shall enter into and form a part of the Faculty of Arts of the Western University; it shall enjoy the rights and assume the obligations common to all the affiliated colleges; it shall be represented in the Board of governors and the Senate and in the Council of the Faculty of Arts; its staff of teachers shall have equal standing and rights with the officers of instruction of the University College of Arts; its students shall be admitted to the degrees of the Western University and to the medals, scholarships and prizes offered by the University in the Arts courses; all in accordance with the Western University Act of 1908, chapter 145 in the Statutes of Ontario."

There were 47 students in the college department at the time affiliation was effected; in 1930 there were 116; in 1936, 345; in 1944, 305. As of 1944, the total enrollment including College, High School, Night School and Summer School reached 1,100.

ASSUMPTION CHURCH

Succeeding Father Muckle, Father Daniel Dillon served as president from 1922 to 1928 and again from 1931 until his illness in the summer of 1932. The present Classroom Building was erected during his first administration. Father Vincent L. Kennedy was president from 1928 to 1931 and Father Thomas A. MacDonald, from 1932 to 1940. Father Vincent J. Guinan, a graduate of the first class following affiliation of the College with the University, took office... in 1940, the ninth Basilian president of Assumption College.

The history of Assumption College falls into two periods. During its earlier phase, the school served as an academy of higher education for future priests in several surrounding dioceses in Canada and the United States. Many of the older priests, particularly in the dioceses of London and Detroit, received their college education at Assumption. After the establishment of St. Peter's Seminary in London in 1912 and the Sacred Heart Seminary in Detroit in 1920, Assumption emerged as a liberal arts college for the young men of the district with special courses preparatory to the learned professions. Through its association with Holy Names College, from 1935 to the present, Assumption College has extended the benefits of affiliation with the University to the young women of the area.

An illustration of Assumption's changing role may be seen in an examination of the vocational habits of one class from each period in the history of the College. Of the 20 members of the Class of 1896, 15 or 75% became priests, four became doctors and one, Frank McIntyre, rose to stardom on Broadway in the musical comedy stage. Of the 28 members of the Class of 1936, 4 or 14% became priests, the remainder dividing about equally between members of the various professions and the armed forces of Canada and the United States.

During the past eleven years, Assumption College, through extension courses given on behalf of the University and through a curriculum of the widest possible variety in its Night School, has come to play a prominent part in the educational life of Essex County. In the College's Summer School conducted for the past four years many credit and non-credit courses have been given by outstanding guest professors. A most significant contribution to the cultural life of the community has been made by the Assumption College Christian Culture League founded in 1934 and maintained by Father J. Stanley Murphy. Through the agency of this organization more than 200 personalities of international celebrity have appeared before local audiences.

More than 2,000 students have answered the call of duty in the war so recently brought to a successful conclusion. 102 of them have paid the supreme sacrifice and eight are still reported missing. Thirty graduates of Assumption have served as chaplains in the Canadian and American forces.

Since last spring a civic campaign has been conducted in Windsor, Essex County and Detroit for expanding Assumption College. The funds raised will be used in providing additional classroom and laboratory facilities, enlarged library and administrative accommodation and a more extensive curriculum. The continuing growth of the College, the educational needs of the community of Windsor and Essex County and the unprecedented demand for higher education by returning veterans of the war have made such a program of expansion an urgent necessity.
RECENTLY, when Frank McIntyre was asked: "How long were you a student at Assumption College?" he answered, "Fifty-four years." The questioner was puzzled. McIntyre smiled and explained.

"Yes, fifty-four years. I entered Assumption away back in the horse-and-buggy days when horse-drawn carriages bumped their way between Windsor and Sandwich. I've been a student at Assumption ever since. I have never been able to get away from my Alma Mater, and never had the desire to do so. Since leaving the College in 1896, I have kept up a constant contact with the College and its staff, because that contact helped me in the outside world. I have corresponded with every President from Father Cushing down to the present Head. In a way you might say that I am the only son of Assumption of all the thousand members of the Alumni Association who ever majored in an "Assumption College Correspondence Course."

The training of the Basilian Fathers, whom I consider the greatest teaching community in the world, steeled me to face life fearlessly. The spectacle, glamour, grandeur and fascinating activities of forty years in the American Theatre, never lured me away from, nor made me forget, the guidance and teachings of the Basilian Fathers.

Memory is a man's most faithful friend. I realize that all the more now when in the wintered years of my life, I look down Memory Lane and dream pleasantly over my days at Assumption. During my years on the stage that nostalgic longing to visit the old school never forsook me, and not one of them passed by that I didn't pay several visits to the dear old place. The most joyful return of all was in May, 1944, when I received an honorary award. That was, I think, the happiest day of my life. I never felt that I was really worthy of that great honour. Old Assumption owed me nothing. Deep down in my heart I realize that were I to enjoy a thousand years of life, it would be too little time to repay the great debt of gratitude I owe her. I always have, and ever shall, look back on that blessed day when my dear parents entered me at Assumption College, as one of those days when our good Lord was truly "mindful of his own."

GRAD HIGHLIGHTS

Due to the conditions that prevail in the world, the class of '45 is, out of necessity, a war-minded group.

During the course of the school year, J. Frewin, F. Ouellette, M. Czilli, J. Buhlman, R. Charron, T. Gallant, J. Knapp, and G. Arnott, joined the Canadian Army.

Don Paulus (U.S. Coast Guard), Frank Coyle (Merchant Marine), Al Bufton (U.S. Army), John McShane and Joe Guth (U.S.M.C.), Fred Weber and Bill Lavey (U.S.N. Radar) will leave for the services a short time after graduation.

In football, George Arnott was unanimous choice for all-city honours, while three other grads rated honourable mention. Louis Paolatto sparked the hockey team. But, to the Basketball team,—the City Champs,—go the laurels. P. Kennedy was all-city, with W. Bridgeman, G. Arnott and G. Carpenter receiving honourable mention.

For the second year, the seniors held a graduation dance, and, for the first time the graduation exercises were held in the Assumption Parish Church.

The class of '45 is proud to graduate on the 75th anniversary of Assumption College.

BILL LAVEY '45.
GEORGE WILLIAM ARNOTT

George was born October 10, 1928, in Windsor, Ontario and came to Assumption in '42. He did well in studies and was a member of the Student Council for two years. He starred in both Senior Football and Basketball for two years and was chosen, unanimously, for the All-City Football Team in 1945. As yet his ambition is undecided.

FRANCIS JAMES BERNHARDY

Francis was born on June 19, 1927, in Cleveland, U.S.A. and began at Assumption in 1943. He has participated actively in Senior Football and Minim Basketball. Frank was Secretary of the Blessed Virgin Society and a member of the Saint John Bosco Club. His ambition is to be an engineer.

RUDOLPH JOSEPH BOISVENUE

Rudy was born on August 30, 1926, in Windsor. He has spent four years at Assumption during which he has been active in football and basketball. Rudy is a very jovial fellow and his favorite topic is vitamin pills. He plans to be an engineer.

HOMER ANTHONY BONDY

Homer was born in Windsor on January 1, 1928. Through his four years at Assumption he has been prominent as a member of the band and was awarded a letter in the second year of his membership. On September 30th, Howard Beauvais died. He was liked by many boys in the school. I knew of no one in the school who did not like him. Even the new boys—who only knew him for a week—liked him already. He was my best pal. We had many good times together. We played together, we swam together. We had many small arguments, but they were not real arguments, because we were always good friends. He was in first year of High School this year (Class 1-C), and I am in Grade 8. Last year he was in Grade Eight and I was in Grade 7.

Two days before he came back to school after the holidays, a dog bit him while he was riding his bicycle. A week ago last Sunday they took him to the hospital, and he never came back. I miss him very much, and the other boys miss him too, especially Martin Mogge, Bill Shore and Don Sharon. We both started the year on the First Flat. We had planned with the Flat Master to room together beginning October the 15th. His birthday was September the 25th, while he was in the hospital. His father brought him many presents, and put them in his room on the flat, but he never saw the presents. He was fourteen years old.

The night before he died, when he could still talk a little, Father Girard, our Flat Master, asked him who his best friend was in the school and he mentioned my name, and when Father told me this I felt very glad, but all that I could think of was that he would recover and come back. Last Saturday, when they told us that he was dead, I could hardly believe it. We all felt very bad. And now that he is dead, I am still going to be his best friend and pray for the repose of his soul.

STUDENTS' PSALM

Father Thompson is my shepherd.
He teacheth me Latin in the Junior Study;
He strappeth me when I am bad and he smileth
at me when I am good.
He throweth me in jug when I skip study
and he maketh me docile;
Why he doth these things, I understand not.
But, in the month of June, he rewardeth
me with a diploma,
And I am filled with joy.
