COVER FEATURING DETAIL FROM:
THUNDERBIRD MAN
By Norval Morrisseau

"...There is a museum of the astral world that each individual goes by his own free choice... to pick up some energy... All the things that men will create are already up there... When a person’s sleeping at night, he remembers.

So there is no beginning and no ending. You could start from the middle or from the other side... but remember when you get down the middle then we have a dream master.

So the dream master entertains us with all these images... when we are in the dream-state"

The only publication of its kind. Rampike is a primary forum of creative expression featuring select literary and artistic talent from around the world. A pioneer of post-modern sensibilities, Rampike offers a unique thematic framework providing a central focus for each issue. The next issue of Rampike will feature "institutionalisation". We will examine the degree to which our minds are shaped by existing socio-political and cultural conventions. Always stimulating and always a challenge, Rampike is available in most major centres in North America, as well as in Australia, France, Germany and the United Kingdom. Subscriptions are available at $12.00 per Volume (three issues). Limited numbers of back issues are temporarily available. Be in touch with the eighties, read Rampike.
