

BIRTHDAY SUPPLEMENT TO THE WINDSOR CLARION.

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 27th, 1886.

THE LATE MR. E. BOISMIER.

Resolutions of Respect by the Sandwich School Board.

On Saturday evening the Board of Education met at Dr. W. B. Quarry's office. The office of chairman having been made vacant by the death of Mr. Boismier, it was on motion of Mr. Mason, seconded by Mr. Neal, and resolved that Mr. Ernest Girardot be elected chairman for the remainder of the year. On motion of Mr. Mason, seconded by Dr. Quarry, that Messrs. Girardot, Neal and the Secretary be a committee to draft suitable resolutions on the death of its late and respected member, Mr. Boismier. The committee reported as follows:

WHEREAS, it has pleased the Almighty to take from our midst Edward Boismier, Esq., who for thirty-five years has been a faithful and efficient member of this board and

WHEREAS, we deem it but right and fitting that we give expression to the high esteem in which we hold the memory of our departed brother, therefore let it

RESOLVED, that this Board with the teachers and pupils of the several schools attend the funeral on Tuesday next, and that the secretary and chairman be instructed to convey to the bereaved family our heartfelt sympathy with them, in this, their irreparable loss, feeling as we do that they have been bereft of a kind and affectionate father, that we have lost a wise and judicious counsellor, and the community at large—an upright and useful citizen.

All of which is respectfully submitted,

ERNEST GIRARDOT,
FREDERICK NEAL,
C. H. ASHDOWN, } Committee.

Upon motion of Dr. Quarry, seconded by Mr. Mason it was carried that the report be adopted and the same be spread upon the minutes of this Board and a copy of the same be sent to the family and published in each of the Windsor papers.

It was decided that all the public schools be closed on the day of the funeral, and that the pupils attend, accompanied by their teacher, in a body. The Board then adjourned.

Mr. Boismier was 76 years of age, and was Inspector of Fisheries for the County of Essex.

He was buried on Tuesday morning, services being held at L'Assumption Cathedral, Sandwich. The funeral was attended by the St. Jean Baptiste Society, the mayor and council, the School Board, and the pupils of Nos. 1 and 2 schools, accompanied by their teachers, together with a large number of citizens on foot and in carriages.

Mayor Howland has definitely decided to be a candidate for Toronto for the Local House solely in the temperance interest.

At the South Oxford Reform Convention held at Norwich on Friday Sir Richard Cartwright was nominated for South Oxford.

FOOTBALL.

Windsor vs. Essex Centre.

Last Saturday the return match between the High School clubs of Windsor and Essex Centre was played at the latter place. Arriving at the Centre, the visitors were met at the station by Mr. Weir, Captain of E. C. club, and conducted to the Fair Grounds, where a very good field had been marked off for the game. As the Windsor team was one man short, their opponents decided to play with ten instead of the regular eleven men. About 3 p.m. the toss was made, and the Essex Centre captain winning, elected to defend the western goal, thus taking advantage of a very high wind. The teams took up their position as follows: Essex Centre—Forwards, Weir (Capt.) McPhail, Ainslie, Fox, Maylor; half backs, Burdick, Wismer; backs, Wilron, Church; Goal, Walters. Windsor—Forwards, Weir, Gow, Passmore (Capt.) Rhons, Pulfer, Walker, half backs, Spencer, White, back, Bushell, goal, Macdonnell. During the first half the Windsors, in spite of the wind, had decidedly the best of the game, though unable to score. At half time the goals were changed, and much to the disgust of the Windsors the wind fell to a calm, but their side was greatly strengthened by a few changes. Bushell was in goal; Gow playing back, and Macdonnell and White forward.

A good kick-off was made for the centre, but by a splendid rush the rubber was carried down field by the Windsor forwards, and after some very clever play in "dribbling" and "passing" was put between the posts by Macdonnell.

Both sides now did their utmost, but neither was able to secure a goal. The ball rarely left the middle of the field, and the Windsor back and goal-keeper were able to give almost undivided attention to some of the Centre's small-boy element, who persisted in making a fire of old-time straw near their goal posts, when time was called the score was unchanged and the Windsor club won a hard fought game by 1 goal to 0.

For Essex Centre Weir, Wismer, Fox, and Ainslie were prominent.

The Windsor club has improved very much, and by avoiding selfish or individual play, and paying more attention to passing and position, the boys are able to cope with much heavier teams. It would be impossible to single out any players as worthy of especial notice, for every one did his duty well.

Hon David Mill has been re-nominated for Bothwell.

The International Cable Company whose object is to lay a cable connecting England the Azores the West Indies New York and Canada, is announced with a capital of $5,000,000.

The clerk reported that he had not received any notice of appeals against the assessment on said drain.

Moved by Ellis, seconded by Weaver, that Jas. S. Laird be instructed to examine the locality at the mouth of the Fourth Concession Extension Drain, under notice given to Donald Coutts.—Carried.

Releases of Statute Labor were granted to the following named persons for the lots and years mentioned after their respectful names:— Patrick Kane, s. w. ¼ Lot No. 4, N. M. R., 1886, 7, 8 and 9; John Barnes, 3½ Lot 15, Con. 9 and n. w. pt. Lot 16, Con. 8, for 1885, 6, 7 and 8. Phillip McGuire, for the n. w. ¼ Lot No. 4 N. M. R., for 1886, 7, 8 and 9; Timothy McGuire, n. e. ¼ Lot No. 4, N. M. R., 1885, 6, 7 and 8.

The above was all for work now done. On motion the council adjourned till Saturday, the 27th day of November inst.

It has been customary mes on occasions of this kind to banquet, but the committee know- r. Cameron's tastes, preferred to t the address in this way. Continu- r. Patterson said he felt flattered at ppointed to read the address. He shown Mr. Cameron for over 26 years ad always found him to be a true who on all occasions had performed ty. advocate, defended a man on one occasion for horse stealing. He was acquitted. On walking out of the court room he remark- ed ; "I always thought I stole that horse until I heard you speak."

He had no idea he was so great and good a man until he had listened to the addresses and speeches. After alluding to the time when he first came to Windsor a town then of 1000 inhabitants, he re- ferred to the great progress made by the town in 25 years, and concluded as fol- lows :

Just a word in parting. "In this the October of my life, it would be, to say she least of it, unbecoming in me to be in- incerely gushing or to say anything that does not proceed from my heart. Most seriously I feel that I cannot do justice to the manner in which you are treating us on the eve of our departure from Windsor where we have received so many tangible proofs of the genuine kindness and good will of its people, and not only of the peo- ple of Windsor, but of the people of the county of Essex at large, regardless of religious creeds or nationality. A few phrases are a most inadequate return for more than a quarter of a century of unin- terrupted, and I might say assiduous, at- tention received at your hands. I however trust the courtesies and generous con- siderations that we have received during our residence in Windsor have not been altogether thrown away, however much they may have exceeded our deserts. Al- low me now, in conclusion, to thank you for myself and for my wife for your much valued gifts, and also for these highly flat- tering but much appreciated addresses, and, although we are seperating tonight, it may be never to meet again in this world, let us hope that we shall meet in another, where there shall be no partings, and where the fences that divide us here shall be totally and forever removed and obliterated. Farewell, dear friends, but let us trust that the waves that roll be- tween us shall never drown our mutual confidence and affection ; nor the storms that lash them into fury foreshadow any disturbance in the harmony of our past happy relations."

Mr. S. S. Macdonnell in an eloquent speech said, he had listened to what the public men had said, and he felt that not only duty but inclination bade him speak on the occasion, as a common citizen. He paid a high compliment to Mr. Cameron as a public man and private citizen.

Mr. Alex. Bartlet was then called on and made a short speech in which he said that he had known and been intimately connected with Mr. Cameron for 26 years, and during that time there had never been an unpleasant word between them.

Mr. Wm. Benson on being called to speak concluded his remarks as follows : "The endorser of a note is equally held with the drawer for its payment. I heart- ily endorse all that has been said. I have done business with Mr. Cameron for up- wards of 20 years. He is an honest man, and that is the noblest work of God. Mrs. Cameron, on leaving has the esteem and good wishes of all who know her, and the prayers of the poor."

Mr. Gow, and Rev. John Gray made short and eloquent speeches.

Dr. Coventry in a short speech said of Mrs. Cameron, that "she, seemed in- stinctively to find out the poor in the day time, and helped them when very few knew of it. Her reward, "he said," will be more than an address by the citizens of this town."

After a short but eloquent speech by James Gibson, Esq., a former partner of Mr. Cameron in which he referred to t

CRICKET.

Windsor vs. Detroit.

A team of the Windsor club went to Detroit July 4th to assist in celebrating independence day and right merrily did they do it. The Peninsulars arrayed in all their glory turned out a full eleven among whom were the once invincible Thomas Dale and their new man E. Gurst professional. The day was a beautiful one for cricket a nice south west breeze made Recreation Park a most desirable spot to celebrate the anniversary of Independence.

Windsor captained by Alfred Wigle won the toss, but owing to the late arrival of some of the team Detroit urged our boys on to bat. With T. Dale from the east end and F. Bamford from the west our boys did not cause much leather hunting. W. A. Kittermaster was champion with 11 runs to his credit in the first innings which totalled only 24. Now the point in dispute was will Windsor suffer an innings defeat. No indeed; said our "wiley boys" old Windsor never gave up in despair at any thing and to work they went and when the 10th wickets of the Detroits dropped for 41 runs prospects were good. Roberts and Gurst got 10 and 17 respectively. J. C. Stuarts analysis of 4 wickets for 14 runs and E. S.
Wigles 5 for 27 explains matters sufficiently. In second essay 56 runs were put up by Windsor of which E. Elliott got 13 and E. S. Wigle 28. This left Detroit 40 runs to make and the game was theirs.
Roberts and Halt made an attempt but it was evident that Detroit had to play cricket to get these 40 runs. They played hard to get them and Jupiter Pluvius played with them, but old Sol came out about 5.30 p. m. after a heavy shower and said "boys go on victory is yours; you have only one wicket to put down for 12 runs and you can do it." Windsors took their positions on the field and Detroit's last hopes came marching to their doom.

Play was again commenced and at the 5th ball bowled Sutherland ended all doubt about the result of the game by taking Gilray behind the wicket. Thus ended the glorious 4th July for Windsor.
Kittermaster proposed telegraphing to Pres. Cleveland C. O. D. but the freshness of the Detroit River had a soothing effect upon him and he abandoned the project.

Following is the score.

The treatment of many thousands of cases of those chronic weaknesses and distressing ailments peculiar to females, at the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., has afforded a vast experience in nicely adapting and thoroughly testing remedies for the cure of woman's peculiar maladies.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the outgrowth, or result, of this great and valuable experience. Thousands of testimonials, received from patients and from physicians who have tested it in the more aggravated and obstinate cases which had baffled their skill, prove it to be the most wonderful remedy ever devised for the relief and cure of suffering women. It is not recommended as a "cure-all," but as a most perfect Specific for woman's peculiar ailments.

As a powerful, invigorating tonic,
it imparts strength to the whole system, and to the womb and its appendages in particular. For overworked, "worn-out," run-down, debilitated teachers, milliners, dressmakers, seamstresses, "shop-girls," housekeepers, nursing mothers, and feeble women generally, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the greatest earthly boon, being unequalled as an invigorating and health-giving tonic.

THE CELEBRATION AT AMHERSTBURG.

Twenty years ago, the first Dominion Day, July 1st, 1867, was celebrated with great eclat in this royal town. The bravery and the beauty of the whole Essex were well represented here on the occasion. The country was young, the and fuller of hope than it is now. The bright sun of July 1st, 1867, looked down upon a fair and New Dominion, then full of promise; the same bright sun on July 1st, 1887, shone upon the same land, now bearing the marks of disappointments at the memorials of broken promises. Men who have watched Canada since the first Dominion Day have not failed to notice the change that has come over the land, arising partly (probably) from unwise government; and to those who had loyally hoped and expected to see grand things issuing from confederated life, the altered spectacle presented by the nation on the 19th anniversary of its natal day was of a depressing character. But there is yet ground for hopefulness, and a sufficient cause for despairing. The Dominion is still young, and possesses yet the vigor and courage of Samson. The chance of a bright future is still prehensible to her if she will but awake and put on her strength, break asunder the humiliating withs that bind her and hurl away from her sacred places the plotting horde of oppressive and uncircumcised Philistines. The 1st inst. opened bright and warm. Between 8 and 9 a.m. flags fluttered from many a roof and pole in Windsor, and lively strains of music from two brass bands filled the circumambient air. Crowds of people rapidly converged to the old ferry landing-place a few rods up the river from Ouellette avenue, to embark on the boats which had been chartered to take excursionists to Amherstburg and Bois Blanc Island. The Windsor Fire Brigade, headed by Hudson's (Detroit) Band wearing red tunics, got on board as did also the two local companies of volunteers, headed by the magnificent band of the 21st Essex Fusiliers. After a delay which Captain Clinton found to be tedious the two boats, heavily freighted with human beings, were dashed together, and then started down the river. Of the river on this noble stream which sparkles and flows unexcelled by any other on earth, is not necessary to write. It was cool and refreshing, and was made more interesting by the singing and the vigorous not graceful dancing of two colored men. Time and the miles together went gayly, Amherstburg and the Island were comparatively soon approached, where on the boats parted company, one going to Bois Blanc and the other with by the larger portion of the excursionists to the Burg.

If there is a place in Essex where ghosts "sneak and gibber in the street" that place is surely Amherstburg. This is reason for saying this. The town is quite ancient, having been inhabited several generations past, and gone. Though new buildings here and there have taken the place of ruined fabrics, yet narrow streets skirted with narrow sidewalks, in many places not fit to be walked on by weighty mortals, are bounded by wooden structures that mostly eldritch and weather-beaten heavy dun color, the town as a whole seems weird and gruesomely fantastic just the place to make a nocturnal stranger stumbling on the dilapidated sidewalks shiver with fear that the ghosts should leap upon his back. Amherstburg also has had side did not leave the Burg until 10 p.m. Judging from many remarks made within our hearing, we think that most of the visitors left Amherstburg with a more favorable opinion of its people than that which came with them in the morning. A few games only were indulged in on Bois Blanc. A base ball match was played by the Foresters and the Shepherds the latter winning; and a tug of war ensued between the same societies, issuing with the honors about evenly divided. The 21st Fusiliers Band took first prize in the band contest, the first prize in the firemen's contest being divided between Windsor and Wallaceburg.

Board of Education.

The School Board met June 30th., pursuant to the call of the chairman. Present. —Messrs. Horne, Bourke, Davis, Manning, Hayes, Hanrahan, Bangham, Parent, Edgar, McDonald, Cameron, McPhillips, Odette and Lusted.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved.

Miss Jessie Taylor, a teacher in the Central School was granted leave of absence to attend the Normal School next fall.

An offer from Messrs. Dupuis & Churchill of a site for the High School on Ouellette avenue in exchange for the site purchased by the Board from Mrs. Baby, was deferred for further consideration.

Moved by Mr. Odette, seconded by Mr. Cameron, that the chairman and secretary be instructed to notify the Municipal Council that the Baby lot otherwise known as Lot 2, Farm 79 and 80 is no longer required for the purpose of the Board, and request said council to dispose of the same in manner provided by law. Carried.

Moved by Mr. Hanrahan, seconded by Mr. Bourke, that Miss Florence Dougall be appointed substitute for Miss Taylor during her absence at the Normal School. —Carried.

Moved by Mr. Davis, seconded by Mr. Lusted, that whenever it becomes necessary to employ substitutes for regular teachers, such substitutes so employed shall be entitled to and paid their proportion of salary accruing during the annual vacation during the current year. —Carried.

A number of accounts were referred to the Finance Committee.

After a few remarks Mr. Cameron tendered his resignation as a member of the Board as follows:

To the Chairman and Members of the Board of Education.

GENTLEMEN.—Being about to remove from Windsor to reside abroad I hereby tender to you my resignation. I am reluctant to sever a connection that has existed so long and been so exceedingly pleasant to me and so congenial to my tastes; and in doing so I tender my colleagues one and all my sincere thanks for the kindness always shown me. I need hardly assure you that though the broad Atlantic will in future intervene between us, I shall ever think of you and the work to the advancement of which you so freely give your time, and nothing concerning the Schools of Windsor will fail to awaken in me feelings of the deepest interest.

Moved by Mr. Lusted, seconded by Mr.

—The funeral of the late Chief of Police Wm. Baines, took place last Sunday afternoon from All Saints church, and was very largely attended. The cortege was headed by the fire department under the command of Chief Cheyne and Assistant Turk followed by the members of the police force, and the Mayor and members of the town council in carriages. The pall bearers were Police Magistrate Bartlett, Town Clerk Lusted and Messrs. Geo. Bartlett, J. E. D'Avignon, John Duck and Wm. Millard.

—Canada's election law is unnecessarily stringent. A member is unseated and forced to endure the risks and expense of a second campaign on the most trivial grounds. An archangel could not go through a hotly contested election without risk of suffering in the courts owing to the foolishness of some agent. And the law can be twisted until it establishes the agency of almost everybody who acts unwisely. It is drawn with a definite purpose of leaving no gate through which the elephant of corruption can pass. The trouble is that the judges in shutting out the elephant narrow the law until it will not more the most trifling indiscretion. Canada must either have a strict law liberally interpreted or a liberal law strictly interpreted. The present measure is entirely unsatisfactory.

—Under the heading "A point well made," the St. John Globe says: "When it suits them the Tory papers declare that there are only two or three annexationists in Canada, and they rarely ever do justice to that eminent Conservative, Solomon White, Esq., or to the past services of Premier Abbott as an annexationist. On the other hand when it suits them they declare that all of the liberals are annexationists. Here is that, general, properly behaved paper, the Journal of Summerside, declaring that one by one the Liberals are throwing off the disguise in which they have been masquerading, etc., etc. What a blind thing is party prejudice! The American Consul at Toronto the other day said a thing that those Conservative journals which are constantly assailing the Liberals for their annexation views would do well to think over. It was at the St. Andrew's society dinner. That silly old pedagogue, Mr. Cookburn, M. P., had made a speech against annexation, and indulged in a good deal of cheap talk. When Mr. Pope, the American Consul, was asked to speak, he referred to the fact that in the United States the subject of annexation was rarely mentioned, but, he added, the many hostile criticisms of the idea which he heard in Canada, reminded him of Shakespeare's words, 'Methinks the lady doth protest too much.'"

—Antoine Brooks, John Prochaska, August Jusk and Albert Jusk, of Detroit, came to Windsor Sunday and imbibed a superfluity of Canadian beer and whiskey. While under the exhilarating influence of the combination the party met Policeman Mahony. To show his contempt for British institutions in general and Windsor law preservers in particular, Brooks walked over to Mahony and, after planting his fist in the orthodox style beneath the officer's nose, informed the official that he (Brooks) could "lick any Windsor policeman alive." He had hardly got the words out before Mahony's hand descended on his shoulder. Before he could recover his breath Brooks was a prisoner and on his way to the lockup. Albert Jusk was not the man to desert his friend and he made for the policeman to effect a rescue, but a vigorous poke in the chest landed him on the fast falling snow in the middle of the road. Policemen Cody appeared at this point, and the two officers escorted Brooks to the station. The three remaining Detroiters followed a few feet in the rear, breathing out curses and threats. They followed too long, though, for they tramped into the police station at the officers' heels, and the latter, as soon as all four were in, slammed the door to and had four prisoners instead of one. As Mahony said, "that's the way to make arrests, and there's no need of a patrol wagon." Each of the quartet was fined $8 Monday morning. As Brooks was the only man of means in the crowd, he had to pay the fines.

TOWN LEGISLATURE

The council met Monday evening last in the council chamber, town hall.

The minutes of the last regular meeting were read and adopted.

Samuel Stoverasked permission to build an addition and improve a frame cottage recently purchased by him on Aylmer ave. said cottage being within the fire limits. —Referred to the Fire, Water and Gas committee chairman.

The resolution of the county council passed at the special session appointing a committee to meet Windsor for a settlement of the amount to be paid by the council for the administration of justice was read.—Referred to the special committee.

The town solicitors notified the council that the Charland vs. Windsor arbitrators had the evidence all taken and had adjourned to hear argument in the case until Friday next at 10 o'clock.

They also gave the result in the demurrer in the case of Morris vs. Windsor which was referred to the Finance committee.

A letter was received from the Secretary of State in answer to a letter from the mayor in reference to the rights of the Inland Revenue department.

The mayor's letter to the county council refusing to sign the agreement with the county by which the town was to pay $2,700 for their share of the administration of justice was read.

Dr. Carney asked why he was assessed $30.04 for Windsor avenue sewer.—Finance.

Eight applications for the position of chief of police of the town were read. The applicants were: W. A. Millard, A. B. Griffith, Wm. Lindsay, Comber, Sergeant Elias Wills, Police Officer Nash, W. Windred, Samia, D. Frazer and H. Gibson.

A letter was read from police Magistrate Bartlett, stating that he understood there was a number of applications for the position of chief of police, and he wished to say that the police force was in as good condition as ever in the history of the town and he thought that the present sergeant, Elias Wills, was the best man that could be appointed, as he had experience and had a better knowledge of the criminal laws of Canada than any man, not a lawyer, that he knew and would recommend that he be appointed.—Referred to the Police and Town Hall (committee.)

The treasurer's statement was read and referred to the Finance committee.

A lengthy discussion followed. Mr. Clinton thought the Mayor had exceeded his duty in refusing to sign the agreement with the county.

The mayor defended his course by saying that the town could get a settlement for $1,500.

Mr. Sutherland said that the question of a settlement with the county had been gone into thoroughly by the council, and the mayor had no right to go behind the instructions given him. Arbitration would take time and would cost many times over the amount in dispute.

The mayor ruled that the motion to refer the communications was in order and his ruling was appealed against by Mr. Clinton.

The mayor's ruling was sustained by a majority of 1.

A petition was read from the bakers and confectioners asking that the by-law regulating the weight of loaves of bread be amended so that it would provide for both fancy and plain bread.

The petition was referred to the police committee.

A largely signed petition was read asking the council to take steps in regard to the proposed change of the ferry regulations.

Harmon—Hanna, that a committee be appointed to confer with the company regarding the matter and also to communicate with government in the matter, said committee to consist of the mayor, Sutherland, Barnes, Lanspeary and Reeves.

Mr. Normandin moved in amendment that the petition be laid on the table.

Mr. Clinton said they had kept an account of people who crossed on the ferry on weekly tickets. They found that 415 persons had dollar tickets, and that 25 had $1.50 tickets. Of these 144 came over at noon, 126, with $1 tickets and 18 with 1.50 tickets.

Mr. Normandin's amendment did not get a second, and the motion was put and carried.

The reports of the different committees were read and adopted, as follows:

Windsor, Dec. 7, 1891.

To the Mayor and Council of Windsor.

GENTLEMEN.—Your Board of Works having received a letter from engineer De Gurse in respect to the proposed Curry-ave. sewer, and pointing out the danger of proceeding with that work in frosty weather, we recommend that the commencement of the work be deferred till the first day of May next, tenderer be permitted if he so desires, to sign the contract and bond at once—changed to suit the above conditions.

Respectfully submitted

F. I. WILSON, Chairman

Moved by Mr. Will, seconded by Mr. Barnes, that the report be adopted.

In amendment, moved by Mr. Hardcastle, seconded by Mr. Harman, that the report be amended by permitting the contractor to construct the crib work forthwith, and the balance of the sewer in terms of the last report of the committee.

Amendment carried 6 to 5.

Windsor, Dec. 7, 1891.

To the Mayor and Council of Windsor

GENTLEMEN.—Your Market Committee have considered the question of leasing by competition the fees of the public market and recommend that the system be abandoned. We are of opinion that the interests of the people at large would be better served if the market clerk was appointed by the council and paid a reasonable salary by him.

The present council pass a resolution to end and appoint a market clerk to take effect as soon as the existing lease is terminated.

Respectfully submitted,

N. J. CLINTON, Chairman.

Windsor, Dec. 7, 1891.

To the Mayor and Council of Windsor

GENTLEMEN.—Your Finance Committee have read a letter of the town solicitors, stating that in the suit Harper vs. Windsor, judgment has been given for $6.25 in favor of plaintiff, and also that they have been served with a notice of application for a new trial. We recommend that the solicitors be instructed to oppose in the usual manner the said application.

We recommend that the clerk be instructed to provide for the several polling subdivisions of the town suitable ballot papers, to enable the electors at the ensuing municipal election to vote on the question whether or not the council shall apply for an act of the legislature to erect the town of Windsor into a city.

Respecting the application of Mrs. Pearson of Olchester for payment of her account for $22.18 for taking care of one Mrs. Berwick, alleged to have been taken from Windsor by her relations and left at Mrs. Pearson's, we recommend that the claim be not entertained for the reason that the deceased was in no sense a charge upon the town and that her relatives were quite able to have taken care of her.

Respectfully submitted,

R. F. SUTHERLAND, Chairman.

The report of the Board of works was amended by allowing the contractor to go on with the crib work.

Lanspeary—Will, that whereas, the late chief of police William Baines has departed this life, be it

Resolved, that this council hereby express their deep regret at the loss of a faithful officer, and extend to the family their sincere sympathy in their sad bereavement.—Carried.

Reeves—Lanspeary, that the town clerk be instructed to advertise for 300 tons of coal for the electric light.—Carried.

Mr. Lanspeary introduced a by-law to appoint a town solicitor.

The clauses of the by-law were read, and it was moved by Messrs. Harmon and Barnes that the by-law be deferred until the second meeting in January, and that the council resume and report progress.—Carried.

Mr. Sutherland introduced a by-law respecting the election of mayor, aldermen, water commissioners and school trustees.

The by-law was read the necessary times and passed.

That only one man, and he a French-Canadian, should be in jail for hoodluming, is a fact that looks like another effort to down-trodden Quebec. Talbot, the Ottawa captive, is small game. It does seem hard that the mere accident of wealth should entitle the wholesale scoundrels to liberty, while this poor miserable little retailer is the only one of all the crooked crew forced to cool his heels upon the jail floor. Talbot in his captivity serves as a warning. His fate illustrates the evil of being crooked in a small way. He expropriated crockery and bed-clothes; therefore he is in jail. Thomas McGreevy scooped the cold cash out of the national treasury with a shove; and is consequently never likely to see the inside of the jail which is the home of one lonesome little hoodler.

Hon. J. A. Chapleau, Secretary of State, spoke before a Commercial club at Providence, Rhode Island, last week. Apparently Mr. Chapleau was defeated by the members of the Canadian government to declare their views. From the summary of his address it would seem that Mr. Chapleau discussed unrestricted reciprocity after the usual manner of the Conservatives, and he talked to the Commercial club as though it was a meeting of the Conservative party. He assumed that unrestricted reciprocity meant the handing over to the United States the making of the Canadian tariff. Mr. Chapleau is too intelligent a man not to know that this is simply humbug. No doubt declarations of this kind appeal to the prejudices of the uninformed and to the feelings of all persons who dislike the United States. Mr. Chapleau himself in speeches which he made last year in the eastern townships spoke in favor of unrestricted reciprocity with the of Canada won the last election on a professed desire for reciprocity. The apparent difference between the two Canadian parties is one of degree. If Mr. Chapleau's reasoning is good so far as his firm of reciprocity with the United States would go, so far we would surrender our tariff to the republic. Mr. Laurier favors, say, a reciprocity in six hundred articles; Mr. Chapleau in three hundred. In both cases the same rule would apply. As a matter of fact, unrestricted reciprocity would be a matter of arrangement between two parties for certain purposes, just as a co-partnership between two persons is an arrangement for their mutual benefit. Both yield up something to the common advantage. Mr. Chapleau holds to the view that unrestricted reciprocity would lead to Political Union. There is a large number of persons in Canada who hold that unless our trade arrangements with the United States are enlarged there must be Political Union. Are both right?

BECAUSE they are anxious to stay in the members of the Dominion Cabinet are against a reconstruction which is favored by ambitious Conservatives in the rank and file who want to get in. Speeches delivered at Perth establish a likeness between the Dominion Government and a mutual admiration society. There were no admissions of inferiority and no word escaped that would indicate a belief in the urgent need of reconstruction. That good but not great man Hon. John Carling is in no mood to see himself replaced in the Ministry of Agriculture by some upstart from Ontario. Hon. John Haggart fully shares this hatred of a change that would throw him off the heights. Sir Adelphe Caron is also opposed to political disturbances, and altogether it looks as if there was more shadow than substance in the rumors of Cabinet changes. First, there is the desire of the Ministers, who, with the exception of the Hon. Mackenzie Bowell, misrepresent Ontario and the west, to keep their places. Their abler colleagues from the other provinces have an unselfish sympathy with the Ontario Ministers, and a less unselfish desire to keep really able men from this province out of the Cabinet. Not until it becomes a question of self-preservation will the really strong Ministers attempt to strengthen the Government by calling in the most brilliant Conservatives from the Western provinces. The bold, say respectability, of the Haggarts and the Dewdneys, makes a fine background for the genius of Sir John Thompson, of J. A. Chapleau, C. H. Tupper, George E. Foster. Their own ability would make these gentlemen eminent in any company, but the inferiority, with the exception noted, of their colleagues from Ontario gives them more prominence and influence than they would have if this greatest province in the Dominion were represented by the equals of the Quebec, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick Ministers.

"The simpler, the more effectual way would be for those who think that Canada is impotent on its own account to advocate Political Union pure and simple. They would then obtain all that they crave for. Will they have the courage to do so?"—LONDON FREE PRESS.

Yes, Mr. Free Press, we agree with you. Those who think Canada—a long string of disconnected provinces—a narrow fringe of settlers, scattered along three thousand miles of boarder line—would be better if commercially connected with the United States, should come out squarely in favor of Political Union pure and simple, which we claim is the destiny that awaits the country in spite of politicians, and which is the only step that will ever give the country the prosperity nature designed for her. The argument used by the Free Press that the Canadian nationality would be extinguished is nothing. Would Michigan or New York favor secession from the rest of the states in order that the people of those states might enjoy the distinction of being called New Yorkers or Michiganders as distinctive from Americans? Hardly. Is not the name American fully as good as Canadian? We think so. The argument of the Free Press, addressed to our national sentiment, loses all point in the face of this all-important fact that we are an English-speaking race. Americans spring from the same people as we do. Not only do "our uncles and our cousins and our aunts" live in that country as in Canada, but many of our fathers and brothers and sisters keep them company. The read with pride the history of the conquests made by the British Nation throughout the world, for were not their forefathers our forefathers? Are they not as proud as ourselves of the glory won by the valiant warriors at Otecy, Agincourt, Poitiers and the thousand other battle which have shed renown upon our common ancestry? The are we and we are they, in spite of the little "muss" which occurred in the family when the old man very foolishly undertook to thrash the grown-up son, and the late G. Washington turned on the old man and "wacked" him. The eldest son has done so well since leaving the parental roof-tree, that the second son, which is Canada, is thinking of entering into partnership with him, and will be mighty lucky if the elder brother takes him in on even terms. What's the matter with the Free Press that it don't own right up that Political Union would be a good thing for the country? But we do agree with it when it says Canadians who favor Political Union pure and simple should have the courage to say so.

"The Windsor, (Ont.) CLARION rises to remark that the man who gives any honest thought to the matter must know that Political Union would not place Canada in the position of a dependency upon the United States to any greater extent than Michigan or any other of the states is dependent upon the rest of the commonwealth. Well, as Michigan is an integral part of the United States, where is the comfort in this suggestion? But then the CLARION goes in for annexation pure and simple. It endorses the Globe's anti-British attitude."

The above is from the Toronto Empire. We don't propose to be misrepresented in that manner by the Empire or any other paper, not even if it is as big as a house. The CLARION does not endorse "the Globe's anti-British attitude." We won't have it that way. The CLARION does not want to be held responsible for the vagaries of any paper, and it does not wish to be compared with the Globe. So far as the CLARION from endorsing the Globe's anti-British attitude, that on almost every question affecting Great Britain, the CLARION holds views almost directly opposite to those expressed by the Globe. On the question of Home Rule for Ireland this journal has taken strong grounds asserting that boycotting and the plan of campaign were wicked and dishonorable, and were intended to bring about the disruption of the British Empire by making it impossible for England to maintain a political connection with Ireland, while no paper in Canada or the United States has gone to greater lengths than the Globe in attempting to justify the excesses of the Irish Nationalists. It has been decidedly anti-British in its treatment of imperial concerns, but whether in its discussion of Canadian affairs it is prompted by hostility to England makes little difference to us. The Globe probably holds the opinion that it would be better for Canada if she were separated from England. So, we agree with the Globe. We go further, and say Political Union with the United States would be an additional advantage, that in fact, it is the only thing that will ever enable Canada to secure her due share of property which a beneficent Providence has showered upon North America. At the present time we are fenced off from the rest of the continent—and from the best part of it too, a fact which the Empire cannot successfully deny. Again, we believe that England is weakened by her North-American possessions. She makes nothing from a financial point of view from the connection, and the retention of Canada does not permit her to possess of any strategic position which would be a strength to her in case of war with any other country, unless, possibly, the United States, and in that event Canada would indeed suffer for her sentiment. The man who asks England to grant Canada her independence is no enemy of England, but her friend, because England, free from guarding possessions in North America, which are without value to her, would concentrate to a greater extent her resources in the event of war with Europe. To our mind England about the same position in regard to Canada as is the merchant of one town who establishes in a distant town a branch business which cannot be profitably continued.

We beg the Empire to remember that Great Britain has no warmer admirer than the CLARION.

—John Piggot, of Mersa, died very suddenly the other day at the age of 84 years. Although in feeble health for some months he retired the night previous as usual, but was found dead in his bed the next morning. Deceased was the proprietor of the first foundry in that section of the country, and purchased large quantities of iron ore from the furnace in Gosfield, out of which he made a good sized fortune. One son and one daughter were born to him but both have died, the only heirs being a daughter-in-law and three grandchildren, to whom the estate is left, with the exception of $100 given to the Hairsine church.

There is no fool like an old fool—unless it be one of the "Col." Elliott F. Shepard stamp. Anson Vincent is a button manufacturer at Newark, N. J., he is 72 years old, and the leading society cemetery in the city holds three bodies of those who had at different times called Anson husband. But a wife in the home is worth three in the ground. His eye, bleary with age, fell upon Miss Emma Weber, young, handsome and vivacious, and he decided that she was just about his number. Instead, however, of sparking her like a man, he wrote letters to her, letters that were soft and fetching. Emma interviewed the old fellow and begged him to desist, stating that she could never be other than a granddaughter to him. But Anson persisted, and his letters not only became more frequent, but more loving. Emma has appealed to the courts, and it is probable that the prosecution will cease immediately.

On February 17th, 1891, in the staid old city of Philadelphia, a wedding took place. It was a big-toned wedding, the contracting parties being young Jack Astor, of New York, and Miss Ava Willing, of Philadelphia. All of Philadelphia's decrepit and back-number 400 were present and the gifts were numerous and costly. They'll be needed now. Astor, as heir to $150,000,000, would naturally be expected to surround himself with all the comforts of home and probably he did but the couple were childless, and that caused many heart-aches. They saw many other people only moderately well heeled, with large and interesting families, while the prattle of children wasn't in it at their home. But everything comes to those who waits, and on Sunday, November 15, 1891, after the weary wait from February 27, 1891, a babe came to the Astor home, a baby boy, loud-mouthed, but beautiful, and there's a joy in that humble cot that was heretofore a stranger in the place. After all this waiting and sighing, the desire of their hearts has been reached, and young Mr. Astor will now stir himself to support his added dignity and the baby.

William Ruddich, of Wilkesbarre, Pa., is dead, and dead by his own hand. Willie was 26 years old and a sort of a sensitive plant as it were. He went home early Monday morning and found his mother under the weather. She was also under the table, fuller'n a boiled owl. That shocked the tender bud and he broke out into sobs, ever and anon chiding his ma for her folly. The old girl stood the criticism for a time, then she got hot and answered William in a sneering tone. The poor boy could stand the budge business, but the sneer was too much for him, and retiring to the seclusion of his own room he poured kerosene over his clothes, set fire to it and burned himself to death, besides ruining the carpet and nearly destroying the house. Oh, mammas, from this take a heed, And while you swill stale beer, Just take all scoldings from your sons, But never try to sneer.

Down at East Bowdoinham, Me., Mrs. Ezekiel Graves had the pneumonia and heart disease and several other little domestic troubles, so severe indeed, that the family physician said she must go hence. Even Ezekiel began to spruce up a little in anticipation. Now there's a branch of the faith cure in East Bowdoinham, and several members took up the case after the regular doctor had collected his bill and pronounced the illness fatal. They stayed with Mrs. Graves, they prayed with her. Of course the unregenerated readers of this column will jump at the conclusion that the victim passed away quietly under the ministrations of the faith cure believers. But she didn't. In half an hour the pneumonia left her, followed in a short time by the heart disease, and within two hours the woman was up and dressed and attending to her household duties. There was great rejoicing around the fireside, and, as the recovery seems to be permanent. The faith cure has received quite an impetus around that neighborhood. But Ezekiel Graves isn't saying a word.

John Craig is a San Francisco newspaper worker, young but red-headed, along with his other personal adornments were a full set of red-headed hair as an archist's nose.

California world's fair commission and being young and impressionable he soon came to realize that the success of the great fair depended in a great measure upon his individual efforts. Hence when the authorities refused to approve of California's $300,000 appropriation for the fair, Mr. Craig began to worry. He kept on a worrying and his appetite failed. To add to his worry the young man had been paid no salary for seven months. One night last week Craig went to bed at the usual San Francisco hour, and when he awoke next morning he laughed; somebody had played a joke on him. One side of his beautiful whiskers was still red, while the other was a deep creamy white. Craig was good natured about it and had the whole crop shaved off. Then he discovered his mistake. It wasn't a joke; for when the whiskers put out a second growth they were still red and white, and the wind which blew through them made the national colors. Physicians say that worry caused the remarkable change.

This time her name was Dennis and it remains the same, unless the scandal which attaches to her may change that name to mud. Emma Dennis, 17 years old, lived with her parents at Springfield, O. Not long since Don Zane, a lightning crayon artist—in fact a Jersey lightning crayon artist—located in Springfield, and Emma, who had given much attention to art matters, as done up in the local papers became interested in the brush slinger. Don wore long, wavy hair and cordury trousers. You can always tell the real artist by the combination. Well, after meeting each other no less than three times the couple decided that they were lovers, and Don suggested to Em that they should go to some sunny clime and forever bask in love. Miss Dennis was ready for the sunny clime too quick, and the couple eloped—going first to Columbus, where the artist tried to get the girl to enter a dime museum as a freak. She wasn't quite fool enough for that, and after a weary struggle for a week the artist started for the sunny clime all alone leaving Emma to mosey back to Springfield as best she could. The silly girl isn't as happy as she was in the heyday of her first experience as a sweet-heart, but then she knows more, and that's some recompense.

We offer our Spring Salutation to our Friends and Customers with the pleasing conviction that they will give a ready attention and kind reception to our offering. It has been our wish to signalize the opening of a new season by submitting to them an array of bargains in which we should excel ourselves and eclipse all our past efforts. The verdict of our customers must determine the measure of our success, but we can say this much in our own behalf, that we have given every effort to the selection of a stock which in all respects should have no superior.

A more elaborate display of goods of every line in Boots and Shoes, Rubbers, Trunks and Valises, greater excellence in workmanship or superiority of material it would be hard to find anywhere. No department has been neglected and no class of customers slighted in our selections.

We need not attempt any specific enumeration of articles; we must refer you to the stock, a personal inspection of which can alone give any adequate idea of its merits.

It has been our aim to give purchasers of any and every grade the utmost of value that could be gotten from the money expended.
