LaSalle News, 1

Friday, November 7th, 1953 5 A.C.

Managers of the New York Yankees and the Brooklyn Dodgers talk things over about the 1953 world's series. That's Chuck Dressen with the smile although his "Bums" lost 4 games to 2 to Casey Stengel's Bombers in the classic.

Your Picture Published

The LaSalle News will gladly publish any item of social interest, from citizens of LaSalle, Sandwich West, River Canard, and Roseland. Just phone or drop us a line.

Pictures will also be published for special occasions such as Anniversaries, Parties, Weddings, entertainments, etc.

Town Sign Located

The LaSalle Town sign which has been removed from Malden Road has been located. Mr. Frank Carlino was presented with a clipping from the LaSalle News, offering $500 reward and received the reward money offered by the LaSalle C. of C.

PERSONALS

Mr. Floyd A. McLean, 51 years of age, died suddenly, November 3rd, at Essex, Ont., brother of Mrs. H. Cooper (Marian) of LaSalle.

Mr. Wm. Joseph Gignac, 57 years, No. 18 Highway, Anderton Township, died after a short illness at his residence November 3rd.

Mr. R. L. Howitt, Front Rd., LaSalle, returned to his home Wednesday, from Grace Hospital.

Mr. William Pajot, of Martin Lane, River Canard, Ont., is in Hotel Dieu Hospital. Prayers and good wishes from relatives and friends should result in a quick recovery for Mr. Pajot.

Mr. Ulysse Dupuis, of the LaSalle Dairy, is taking doctors' orders at Hotel Dieu Hospital to rest, for some time to come. Friends will be pleased to know that he is well on the road to recovery.

LaSalle Town Council decided at Monday night's meeting to sell farm land at the price of $8,000 to Lawrence Pajot. This sale will make possible the purchase of New Fire Pump for LaSalle Fire Department which has been badly needed to replace the old pump which dates back to 1915. The remaining $3500 needed for the new pump will be borrowed.

The First Saturday Club holds its monthly meetings each Saturday at 12:30 at the Norton Palmer Hotel, in the Press Club. All Catholic Business girls and women are invited to attend. Phone reservations in to Mrs. Louis Pajot of Pajot Insurance, CL 2-7722, or Alma Brodeur, Alma's Jewellery store, CL 6-1431.

The LaSalle Chamber of Commerce Director's meeting will be held Monday evening, November 23rd, at the Ernest Bowl Dining Room at 9 P.M.

Allen Brodeur, LaSalle, spent last week-end at St. Helen, Mich., deer hunting with bow and arrow. Allen relates he saw several deer, close enough to be a perfect target with a rifle, but too far for the bow and arrow. The hunting party consisted of his uncle, Ray Brodeur, and his cousin and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Carr, all of Grosse Pointe, Mich.

Halloween was enjoyed as usual by the younger set calling from door to door and receiving an unusual lot of treats consisting of candies, apples, popcorn balls, balloons, etc. Mr. Jack Trotter, Councillor and chairman of the LaSalle Town Park, entertained the children with fireworks and a short programme. No damage by pranks was reported in LaSalle.

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Drouillard, (nee Doris Reaume) of Front Rd. LaSalle are happy to announce the birth of a daughter.

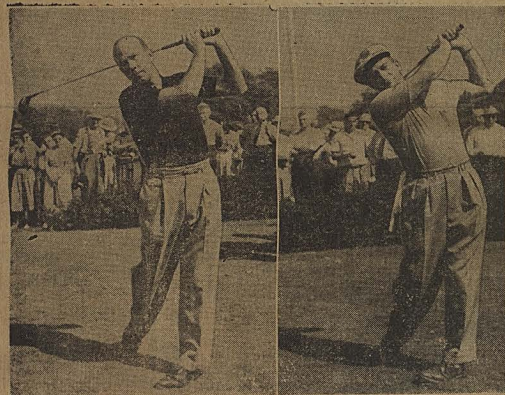

Important Note

The Bell Telephone Company now has the number for the LaSalle Police posted on the emergency board, and the number can be obtained from Information.

The same situation now exists for the LaSalle Fire Department as did for the LaSalle Police. A call was made for the LaSalle Fire Department by phoning Operator, and the caller was informed there was no LaSalle Fire Department listed, did he want the Windsor Fire Dept. Any resident needing the LaSalle Fire Dept. would have to locate a copy of the LaSalle News and look up the telephone number, which might not be at hand at time of emergency, or run to a fire box. Few people would know that they are to call the Town Hall, or know the number of the Town Hall phone. The Telephone Operator should have a listing of the number for the LaSalle Fire Dept. as well as the LaSalle Police Dept. THIS IS IMPORTANT TO EVERY CITIZEN IN THE TOWN OF LASALLE.

Over 50 Ladies Hear Miss Elizabeth Lapp

Over fifty ladies enjoyed an evening of entertainment at the Super Bowl Dining Room on Wednesday. Miss Elizabeth Lapp was most interesting in her advice of Skin Care and Personal Make-Up. Mrs. Fred Haslam volunteered to be her model, and proved to be an excellent model with her witty comments during the make-up demonstration. The ladies made themselves acquainted with the Tiffany Cosmetics which are obtainable at Cornett's Rexall Drug Store at LaSalle. A sample of Tiffany Hand Creme was given each lady who attended. The Treasure Chest was won by Mrs. Ernest Liffiton, Lafferty St., LaSalle. Refreshments were served. Mr. J. Cornett introduced Miss Lapp and Mrs. Cornett moved a hearty vote of thanks for the splendid lecture and demonstration she had given.

final at the Kanawaki Golf Club in Montreal. Cherry wiped out a three-hole deficit to win out on the 36th green one up.

Norman Holland

Dr. A. S. Lamb

Award of the Queen's Coronation Medal to Mr. Holland, president of The Last Post for the Province of Quebec and the Don in-ten of Canada, has been made in recognition of his 35 years of service in the work of the Fund. Dr. Lamb receives the medal for his work on behalf of physical education and health in Canada.

One hundred yards of cleared land and portable canvas hand pumps drawing water from a well combined with human effort to save this settler's home from the wild forest fires raging out of control in the Forestville area 400 miles east of Montreal. Below, the soot-blackened homesteader, LEO SIROIS, sits exhausted on the steps of his frame dwelling, half-blinded by the choking smoke that filled the air as he fought a night-long battle to save his simple home.

Joan Asks Father Frank About

The "Kinsey Report"

Dear Joan:-

So the "girls" at the bridge club finally got around to asking you what the Catholic Church teaches about the so-called "Kinsey Report"—more pompously entitled "Sexual Behavior in the Human Female." The Church hasn't said anything about this money-making opus of the renowned Dr. Kinsey, nor will the Church dignify his book with any statement. Joan, the Church has a lot more important problems to consider than the prudent and salacious "findings" of the overly-inquisitive Kinsey.

Incidentally, his real specialty is not human behavior—it is a species of insect called the "gall wasp," for writing a book on which he is proud to bear the title "Dr." You can grasp a pretty clear idea of what he must think of a human's moral and spiritual life when he studies (I use that word "study" in a loose sense) human beings with the same practiced eye that studied wasps for some years!

No, Joan, I haven't read the book and don't intend to. I know enough about human nature after kicking around this globe for some fifty years to realize that men and women are weak; that uncontrolled passions can get folks into some terrific messes; that the human mind is fertile in thinking up ways to satisfy the baser instincts. But human nature is not very original: I dare say that if Kinsey had been in ancient Greece or Rome he would have found people to answer his money questions in just the same way as people (some people) answer them in 1953!

While I haven't read the book (and am firmly convinced that it is far better left unread) still I've spoken with a few hardy souls who, for reasons of review, have waded through most or all of it. Lots of it, I'm told, is taken up with plain ordinary statistics. And they're dull reading at best. While the language is very simple and even clinical for the most part, still the general effect is that it is beyond ordinary minds to read and digest the stuff. Without suffering from indigestion, that is. As one person whom I respect—a professional man—expressed it: "It leaves a bad taste in the mouth and a feeling of depression in the heart."

The Philadelphia Bulletin, one of the better papers south of our border, had originally intended to publish a summary of the book, but it finally stopped the printing of it ("killed the story" as they say in the newspaper game) saying instead to its readers: "It is impossible to present any adequate summary of the findings without giving unnecessary offence to many in our large family of readers." That's the word to describe it: "offensive." And what a publicity build-up Kinsey and his associates managed to acquire for the work! That would be a letter in itself Joan, but obviously the purpose of the previous fanfare was to boost sales of the eight dollar effort. And that's a load of money to pay for that much dirty paper.

Believe it or not, a total of less than 6,000 women were questioned on the most intimate details of their marital and pre-marital life. And there are 80 million women in the U.S. Of those 6,000, sixty were aged two to six years old.

You can just wonder what kind of questions they asked those infants. Imagine! Also interviewed were professional prostitutes. Almost entirely omitted were rural groups, devout Jews and Catholics. And of those willing to confide personal secrets to a probing layman, one wonders how many of such would be the sort really to believe in a personal God Who gave humans moral laws and requires their observance. Spiritually-minded people, even those who may have made mistakes in the past or who even still know their weakness and their need for God's grace to live a good life, are not prone to rehash such personal problems as are gone into by the Kinsey Report. The evaluation that the Kinsey group would place upon their "discoveries" is of necessity superficial and of slight, if any, value. Only a genuine Christian attitude towards the meaning of human life can impart a deep insight into the mystery and dignity of sexual matters. You have first to know what a human being is: a union of body and soul; flesh and spirit; made in the image of God; destined for eternity with Him—before you can arrive at the real significance of God-given sexual power in the human. Only when men and women are studied as a composite that is something of the animal and something of the angel, does any declaration of sexual activity assume worth, because only then do you begin to see that God created sex, as He created us, for a divine purpose reaching beyond the confines of this world.

Tre Kinsey Report

A non-Catholic judge in Indiana summed up adequately the sort of answer you could give the "girls" at the club next Thursday. Judge Nihlack, an alumnus of Indiana University (where the study by Kinsey was carried out) declared: "If my poor Alma Mater can't find any better use of its funds than to have 'Doc' Kinsey explore sex, it should use the money to hire some better halfbacks and furnish us some good, clean football on fall Saturdays." He added that the publication of the book would do no good, and observed that teenagers should be taught restraint and the virtues rather than being encouraged "to act like monkeys."

Archbishop Schulte of Indianapolis was even more vigorous in his condemnation of its "tasteless circulations of the findings of his investigations among those competent to weigh their worth and apply them to the betterment of mankind, he (Kinsey) publicizes them like a cheap charlatan and in the most unscientific fashion makes them available to the young, the unlearned, the mentally deficient, to their great harm and the endangering of society."

So when the bridge club meets again, Joan, you'll have plenty of solid ammunition to fire away. Perhaps a better approach would be simply to yawn politely when Kinsey's name comes up and quote Beatrice's remarks to Benedict in "Much Ado About Nothing": "Why, he is the prince's fester; a very dull fellow; only his gift is in devising impossible slanders; none but libertines delight in him; and the commendation is not in his wit, but in his villainy; for he both pleases men and angers them, and then they laugh at him and beat him."

And if the girls still insist on talking about Kinsey's findings, Joan, I'd suggest that you reach for your hat and beat it!

A 'Rook' Talks To A 'King'

BOB BAILEY, highly touted rookie in the Maple Leaf hockey camp, is getting some advice from non pilot, the fiery KING CLANCY. Bob, who was with Pittsburgh Hornets last season, is expected to be the answer to a lot of Clancy's prayers for the Torontonians this semester in the NHL.

RECIPE HINTS

To make a meal that will satisfy your sportsman, make sure the venison roast is well-larded, delicately seasoned and carefully cooked.

Venison

In preparing venison, remember to remove all the fat, as it is unpalatable. However, the meat will be dry unless you add lard or butter when cooking. Venison steaks or cutlets, a little less than an inch thick, should be brushed with olive oil and broiled close to the flame. You can pot roast venison without soaking it by inserting a clove of garlic and a bay leaf in a small slit of the roast, adding plenty of fat, and cooking it on the top of the stove for several hours at low heat. After it has roasted for 2 hours, add 1 cup water and continue cooking and adding water until tender.

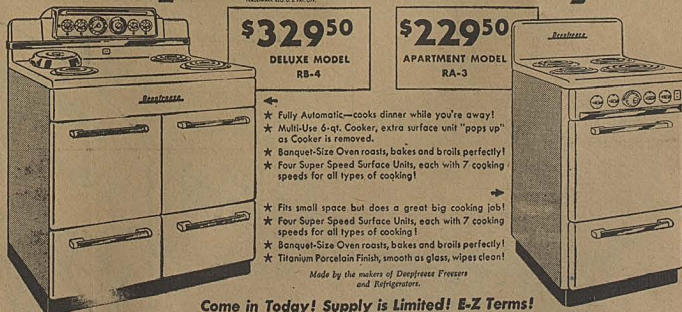

For a super-supper dish, take a saddle or haunch of venison and cover with a marinade of 2/3 cheap red cooking wine and 1/3 water with mustard seed, a crushed clove of garlic, and salt added. Let stand in this for about two days turning the meat from time to time. Remove and lard generously with salt pork. Sear in a hot oven, then reduce heat to 325 degrees F. and baste frequently. Cook about 25 minutes to the pound. If you want a superb gravy, add a small glass of red wine to the roast pan and boil until it is reduced one third. Add a glass of currant jelly and when it is melted, stir in 1 cup sour cream. Strain and serve separately. Food for a king!
