Saint Rose High School '50

We, the class of '50, are leaving St. Rose's with a heart full of pleasant memories. Though the school is small and old it fosters a spirit of good fellowship and loyalty which we will ever cherish. To the faculty, those wonderful patient people who have worked so hard in our behalf, and who have taught us immeasurably more than math and latin, we give our lasting gratitude and heartfelt thanks.

Faculty — Sr. John Berchmans — Principal

Sr. Ursula

Sr. Francis Borgia

Mr. J. M. Stephan

School Colours — Green and Gold

School Motto — Ad Astra Der Ardja

School Song — A solemn peace, that breathes of old school memories,

Will heal the scars, the fevers of the day

And on the breeze that gently moves across our pathway wide

Each troubled thought will idly steal away.

So if the day has made your soul grow weary

And brought your eyes the shadows of a frown

Go down the trail that leads you to dear SRH

And watch the clouds light up before the sun goes down.

DEDICATION

To

The Brazilian Fathers who have zealously looked after the Spiritual interests of our schools since 1870.

and to

The Sisters of the Holy Names of Jesus and Mary who have been our devoted teachers since 1865, this first Year Book of St. Rose High School is gratefully dedicated.

Third Row — C. Plante, J. Pattenden, M. Denunzio, P. Deslippe, T. Tiefenbach, B. Paquette, R. Fryer, L. Bondy.

Grade XI Class Notes

Janie Fox so full of pep
With the fashions she's in step.
Pearl Charette intends to be learned,
But we all think she'll get Bernard.
Dark and sweet is our Madeline
With the kids she's on the beam.
Barbara Bondy goes to St. Rose
She has no worry about finding beaux.
Rose Marie St. Louis doesn't live in town
But she has no worry when the Chevie's around.
Tony Tiefenbach is a hunter's son
When it comes to school, he's the hunted one.
Mike Denunzio, five-foot four,
Collects money at the Parish Hall door.
Join the navy and see the world
Is Jack Pattenden's last word.
Lee Thrasher, so lean and tall,
Will come running at a certain girl's call.
Robert Paquette, five-foot six,
In basketball knows all the tricks.
Katie Bondy attends school at St. Rose,
But over to St. John's her mind often goes.
Marilyn Thrasher works every night
And every day has a letter to write.

Jean Fox is our great sport,
She shows her stuff on a basketball court.
Charles Plante is very tall,
But seldom plays basketball.
When you hear a sweet voice trilling,
Sure it's Rosanne Goulin giggling.
Robert Bondy, the girls all chase,
But he leads them a merry race.
Helen Traeff in class is bright,
In basketball puts up a fight.
Leonard Bondy comes to school with a grudge
And considers homework a needless drudge.
Dorothy Dingle knows the score
And never considers her work a chore.
Georgina Deslippe likes to sew and cook
But doesn't like her Latin book.
Paul Deslippe is our Groucho Marx
And makes us laugh with his larks.
'Tis not hard to find the forte
Of Robert Fryer — why 'tis sports.
Laura Brooker, a friend to all,
Does her best playing basketball
Suzanne Chappus, an all around lass,
Displays her wit in the English class.

CAST OF PLAY

Front Row — Margaret Meloche, Paul Deslippe, Mary Hamilton, Bernice Haig, Dick Renaud, Joanne Haslam.

School Play

"The play's the thing!" In this case the play was not Shakespeare's gloomy "Hamlet" but a gay comedy called "You're Telling Me," presented on December 15 in Gen. Amherst Auditorium.

The play concerns a young lady who is "sick of being poor", a love-struck millionaire butler, the object of his affections, a rich social climber and several innocent bystanders. During three hilarious acts the poor heroine got out of one mess into another but it all ends happily.

Yes, the play's the thing. But will we ever forget all that happened between the time the play was chosen and the final curtain was drawn, the rehearsals, the search for clothes and the backstage tremors on the big night.

One thing that will always haunt the dreams of Bernice and Clarita is their sad attempts to faint in chairs that kept sliding all over the floor. Dick will never forget his vain attempts to get certain lines concerning "all the king's horses and all the king's men" cut out of the play. Margaret will always be grateful (?) to the play for making her one of the most-heard gigglers in the school. The audience never heard Paul's and Dick's famous lines "You mean we're supposed to carry her? Oh no!" but it still rings in our ears.

Well, after all our trials and tribulations the all-important night finally came. Janette's hat "slayed them" all, the telegrams and the cap gun were ready and waiting. Shirley found her nylon gloves. Joe's mustache and whatever he had attached to his chin were on. Clarita and Bernice managed to faint. Joanne got everybody's earrings on straight. Mary had her jodphurs on in time. Paul was properly horrified every time someone fainted. Bill finally got enough powder in his hair and the record player actually worked when it was supposed to.

The cast was Clarita McNeil as Mrs. Carstairs, Bill Thrasher as her brother-in-law, George, Mary Hamilton as her daughter, Kit, Bernice Haig as Kit's friend, Pam, Dick Renaud as Lloyd Hamilton, Paul Deslippe as Lloyd's friend, Ward Wagner, Janette Sunderland as Mrs. Regan, Shirley Cantelon as her daughter, Theeda, Margaret Meloche as her daughter, Marlene, and Joanne Haslam as her maid Suzy. The prompters were Eleanor Sinasac and Teresa Beneteau. The stage hands were John Tiefinbach and Leonard Bornais.

GRADE X

Front Row — M. Power, D. Johnston, J. Grenier, N. Murray, D. Callam.

Second Row — L. Mailloux, D. Dufour, J. Fox, V. Lucier, J. O'Brien, L. Deslippe, N. Renaud, L. Sinasac, J. Hocevar.

Third Row — C. Gibb, E. Curtis, N. Darragh, K. Sutton, Mr. J. Stefani, W. Bernard, J. L'Hereux, M. Finn.

Fourth Row — B. A. Fitzmaurice, D. Calzavara, B. Paquette, M. Marentette, B. Bourgea, B. Deluca, M. A. Renaud, C. Dufour, F. Paquette.

Fifth Row — N. Dufour, E. Kelly, E. Bratt, M. A. Yakopich, A. Sapalski, M. Traeff, A. White, T. Bornais.

Absent — A. Bondy.

With Grade X from Behind the Desk

Moving, first from one building to another, and then from one classroom to another describes the early part of the year. Even a change of desks was included. Once in the new school the class was able to study modern building construction in their own classroom. Unfortunately, it was intermingled with more conventional subjects such as Latin, Math, English and the others. However, I don't believe it suffered much. Some of their studies included the installation of science desks, including the plumbing and electricity, and the building of cupboards. A great interest in these arts was shown by all. Since the completion of the building their attention has been on the more conventional studies although an occasional student shows great interest in the work of the P.U.C. as they pass by on their route.

With the coming of winter came the heat problem. Shirley Lafromboise says it is too hot. Mary Ann Renaud says it is just right. Anne Bondy says it is too cold. The thermometer says it is 68 degrees. Opinions around the room vary. Lawrence Mailloux says the solution is simple. Individual radiators and thermostats in each desk. Vernon Lucier and Joe O'Brien agree with him and say they will install them next week if permission is granted.

Joe Hocevar says he will be playing basketball next year. However, the paper around the wastebasket indicates he will need a lot more practice. Lynwood Sinasac says next year he will be sure to play the full game in the playoffs. Michael Power and Lloyd Deslippe are going to work for the Department of National Defence next summer. Their specialty will be code messages. They have devoted considerable practice to it during the year. Dick Johnston is going to be a birdwatcher with the Audubon Society. Four robins before March 19 is his record this year. Jim Fox is trying hard to win the Most Courteous Basketball Player of the Year Award. Even when the going is tough he passes them in for the opposition.

One career Edith Kelly is not considering at present is that of Geometry teacher. However, one never knows. Nancy Darragh's specialty will be tutoring students in difficulty. She has shown unusual aptitude in this direction during the year. Mary Ann Yakopich's singing at Christmas was a pleasant surprise to all the class. Betty Ann Fitzmaurice and Kay Sutton are warning all to watch the junior girls' basketball team next year. Since next year the junior girls are W.O.S.S.A., their goal is London.

This has been something from Grade X. As the years pass by may they all advance in perfection in the love and service of God to their ultimate goal, eternal happiness in heaven.

Boys' Basketball 1950

The 1950 basketball season opened officially on January 1st., when St. Rose teams played host to the black and gold of Amherst High. There has always been friendly rivalry between the two schools and the hall was crowded for the opening game. Much to the sorrow of the St. Rose fans both teams suffered defeat.

Such was not always the case, however, for the senior boys won both games with Harrow, lost one to Essex, and lost the final game to Amherst to finish with a .500 average. The juniors defeated Harrow twice, split the series with Essex, and lost two games with Amherst to compile a .500 average also.

The members of the senior team are Paul Deslippe, Jack Pattenden, Norman Purdie, Bob Johnston, Bill Dufour, Dick Renaud, Bob Girard and Edwin Brooks. Mr. Joseph Stefani was the coach. The junior team consisted of Tony Tiefenbach, Norman Murray, Bob Fryer, Bob Paquette, Les Thrasher, Lloyd Deslippe, Charles Plant, Joe Kitka, Bill Spearing, Dick Johnston, Jim Fox and Jack Grenier. The boys were ably coached by Pip Girard.

The 1949-50 season was a great success but the boys are hoping to do even better next year.

Girls' Basketball 1950

The 1950 basketball season for the senior and junior girls of St. Rose, although short, was quite a success.

The two teams played home and home series with Harrow, Essex and Amherst High. The seniors finished the season with a record of four victories and two defeats. The juniors won three out of six games. All the girls wholeheartedly enjoyed each game and displayed an admirable spirit of good sportsmanship in losing as well as winning.

The junior team consisted of twelve players — Laura Brooker, captain; Helen Traeff, Marjorie Traeff, Shirley Laframboise, Betty Fitzmaurice, Elizabeth Bratt, Marcia Marontate, Kay Sutton, Edith Kelly, Betty Paquette, Constance Dufour, and Wanda Bernard. The members of the senior team were Shirley Murray, captain; Anita Ong, co-captain; Beverly Johnston, Ethel Dufour, Frances Warren, Catherine Burns, Margaret Meloche, Jeanette Sunderland, and Jean Fox. At the beginning of the WOSSA season Mary Murray took over the coaching which had previously been looked after by the captains and co-captains.

Both teams thoroughly enjoyed the season and eagerly await the chance to better their record next year.
