Windsor, Ontario

Our Principal

Mr. George F. Dean

In Retrospect

It all began with a letter of application to the Windsor-Walkerville Technical School Board. That was thirty-seven years ago. Now, after having served as teacher, commercial director and principal, I have the honour of graduating (retiring) with the Class of 1964--the largest graduating class in the city of Windsor.

It has been an honour and a privilege to have been associated with two outstanding schools and a staff which has been keenly interested in commercial education. Their interest is evidenced by the fact that a number of former staff members are now professors, principals, vice-principals and department heads, and they have made an outstanding contribution to commercial education, not only in Windsor, but in other parts of the province.

I have also enjoyed my association with the young men and women who have attended the W. D. Lowe Technical School and the High School of Commerce. Many of our graduates now occupy prominent positions in commerce and industry throughout Canada and the United States. It has been a rewarding experience to have observed their ascendancy in the business world. Some have entered the professions as teachers, ministers, nurses and accountants, and one outstanding graduate is now the Dean of Business Administration at the Detroit Institute of Technology.

In planning our commercial courses, it has always been our objective to provide courses to meet the needs and abilities of our students. We have endeavoured to make these courses as practical as possible, in keeping with business standards. In 1948, in co-operation with the Windsor NOMA Chapter, a co-operative training was established whereby a number of senior students work five days in an office gaining practical experience. Also during the past twenty-five years some four thousand students have had the rare privilege of operating a large department store for one day. We are indebted to the firms that have made this practical training possible.

It is with mixed feelings that I take my departure from the Harry E. Guppy High School of Commerce. I shall always follow with much interest and pleasure your achievements and successes. Now may I leave with you this inspirational gem by Ralph Waldo Emerson---

"A happy life is to laugh often and to love much, to win the respect of intelligent persons and the affection of children, to earn the approbation of honest critics and to endure the betrayal of friends, to appreciate beauty, to find the best in everything, to give one's self, to leave the world a bit better, whether by a healthy child, a garden patch, or an improved social condition, to have played and laughed with enthusiasm and to have sung with exaltation, to know even one life has breathed easier because you have lived."

G. F. Dean, Principal.

Bon Voyage, Mr. Dean

In June of 1964 the students and staff of the Harry E. Guppy High School of Commerce will regretfully say farewell to their Principal, Mr. George F. Dean who is retiring after thirty-seven years of service in two Windsor High Schools.

It was in 1924 that Mr. Dean graduated from Western University with an Honour degree in Business Administration. After two years he decided to be a teacher, and so attended the Ontario College of Education during the 1926-7 term. In September of 1927 he joined the staff of the Windsor-Walkerville Technical School, teaching Bookkeeping, Business Practice and Geography. Later, armed with his Commercial Specialist Certificate, he taught Accounting, Business Law and Office Practice.

In 1937 he was made Commercial Director, organizing the courses of the rapidly expanding Commercial Department, a position which he held until he was appointed Principal of the school in 1955. In 1959 the Commercial Department became a separate High School, moving to Tecumseh Blvd. East with Mr. Dean becoming the first Principal of the Harry E. Guppy High School of Commerce.

During these past five years Mr. Dean's guidance of staff and students has been so successful that our school has a province-wide reputation for excellence. This accomplishment has rounded out his long career and we know that it will be a great satisfaction to him during his retirement. We who are left to carry on his work wish him all happiness in his new leisure, and we know that hundreds of grateful ex-students will echo our words!

Mr. W. H. Jennings

The "coming out" of the year book always brings a flurry of excitement. Students--and teachers too--exchange autographs, chatter over the pictures, giggle at the jokes and cartoons, read the literary contributions and--the advertisers hope--take some interest in the advertisements. In our enjoyment, we should not forget that the book would not be possible without the unselfish work of the Year Book Staff. Their's is a thankless job, their only reward being the pride of accomplishment. They most certainly deserve our heartiest appreciation.

For the graduating class this is their "special edition". It marks a very important milestone in their lives--the earning of the Secondary School Graduation Diploma. To them with pride we offer our congratulations and best wishes for a happy and successful future.

To the boys and girls to whom graduation seems a long way off I would say: Tell yourself that thousands and thousands of people, no more intelligent than you are, have mastered the things that seem difficult to you now. Take a deep breath and go at it. Good luck.

Finally, I have to admit that after many years of going to school I am "graduating" too. My diploma? It is this: the warm and continuing friendships--literally thousands of them--that have grown out of my association with the boys and girls with whom I have worked. What could be a better award?

Well Done, Mr. Jennings!

In our school, the one person who comes in contact with every student is the Commercial Director, Mr. Winfield H. Jennings.

He checks the attendance, he is responsible for discipline, he is in charge of job placement and he also teaches. Thus the only way to avoid knowing Mr. Jennings is to miss Grade 12 Law classes (a difficult manoeuvre), never be late, never be absent, never have a disagreement with a teacher, and never want a job.

So when we learned that Mr. Jennings was to retire in June, 1964, every student felt a sense of loss, for this ex-Newfoundlander brought with him his native Atlantic breeziness to sweep away our dull Ontario administrative cobwebs.

His history is proof of his favourite axiom: "If you want to, you can do it." In a small Newfoundland village, he was teaching at an age when most teen-agers are hoping to get into Grade 10, and, still a juvenile, saw service with a Newfoundland regiment. In all, he taught in his own province for eight years, completing his matriculation by private study and doing two years' work at Queen's University through extra-curricular courses and summer school. He then came to Queen's and in 1925 graduated in Honour English and French. After three years in the construction business he decided to return to teaching and 1928-9 attended the Ontario College of Education. He spent one year at Guelph Collegiate and then came to the Windsor-Walkerville Technical School, now Lowe Technical. He secured his Commercial Specialist's Certificate and taught Penmanship (becoming a handwriting expert in the process), Office Practice, Bookkeeping and Accounting, and, above all, Business Law.

With his usual passion for learning Mr. Jennings took a Master's degree at Wayne University, and then turned a critical eye on text-books. Years of teaching and research and three years of writing produced "Canadian Law" and its accompanying work-book, followed by collaboration on a work-book for Business Arithmetic.

In 1955 Mr. Jennings became Commercial Director of his school, continuing in this position when the Commercial Department became the Harry E. Guppy High School of Commerce. His small office has become familiar to hundreds of students who came perforce or voluntarily, and received reproofs when they were merited, encouragement and sympathy when they would help. To Mr. Jennings, on whose abundant common sense and understanding we have all depended, we send our wishes for good health and good fortune, and our appreciation for a job well done. Ave atque vale!

Congratulations to the Yearbook Staff on producing a third annual "Comstar." Congratulations to the Commerce students of 1963-64 for making this a year of outstanding achievement in several fields.

The three words of our school motto are fine ideals and the way to a good future.

"Integrity" — It is only in honesty with oneself and with others that one can maintain self respect. Without that self respect living is meaningless.

"Efficiency" — Work of a high degree of excellence contributes greatly to one's satisfaction in living and working.

"Industry" — The ability to work hand in hand with efficiency. When work is done comes that freedom of mind which makes leisure hours times of real pleasure.

All these qualities one learns at home and at school, in the classroom and in school activities. They lead to a life full of these things we humans hold most dear, home, family and worthwhile work, in a land where we are free to think and to worship God as we please.

Editorial

This year's Comstar staff has worked diligently for many months, hoping to preserve for you the accomplishments and extra-curricular activities that have taken place during the past year.

I would like to thank all the sponsor teachers for their guidance, with my special thanks going to all the students who have helped in any way, for without them there would be no Comstar.

"Tis but the morning of the world with us
And Science yet but sheds her orient rays.
I see the age, the happy age, roll on
Bright with the splendours of the midday beams.
I see a Homer and a Milton rise
In all the pomp and majesty of song,
Which gives immortal vigor to the deeds
Achieved by Heroes in the field of fame."

Philip Freneau

"The Rising Glory of America"

So too it is the "morning of the world with us." To those who will graduate, a career in the business world is their goal. Once we enter into this world we must do our best to remain there. To those who will remain in school, you must work until you too can achieve this goal. Everything is before us! Only we have to work for it.

The Yearbook Staff At Work

THE YEARBOOK STAFF

The busy workers shown in this picture are preparing copy to be sent to our publishers for the January deadline. Their first work was to sell advertisements, and they assembled a distinguished list of advertisers. Then they identified the people in all the pictures -- but elected to remain anonymous in their own picture. Next, they cut and pasted and wrote copy (or tried to browbeat some of the athletes into writing the sports stories). Their work went on weekly from early September to March. They have only one message to all:

WE HOPE YOU LIKE OUR YEARBOOK---COMSTAR, '63-'64

President's Message

It is hard to believe that another school year has come to an end. For some it will mean graduation and job-seeking, but for others it means another year of hard work.

I must admit that I found it hard to adjust myself to Commerce but I soon found the teachers pleasant and the work very interesting. Our principal, Mr. Dean, was always ready to give me a helping hand.

Our many activities have been much like the interdependent movements which take place inside a watch. All activities must work together for the good of the entire school. I would like to thank all those who participated in school events and on teams which brought honour to our school.

I would like to add my appreciation to the faithful members of the student council and, above all, to our two sponsor teachers Miss Varah and Miss Casely.

Finally, I want to thank you, the student body, for your cooperation and understanding in making this a most unforgettable year for me.

They Keep Our School Operating Smoothly

Barbara Hitchins, Beverly Peters, and Andrea Jeffs are the smiling beauties who look after our office. They are all just as pleasant as they appear to be in the picture, too.

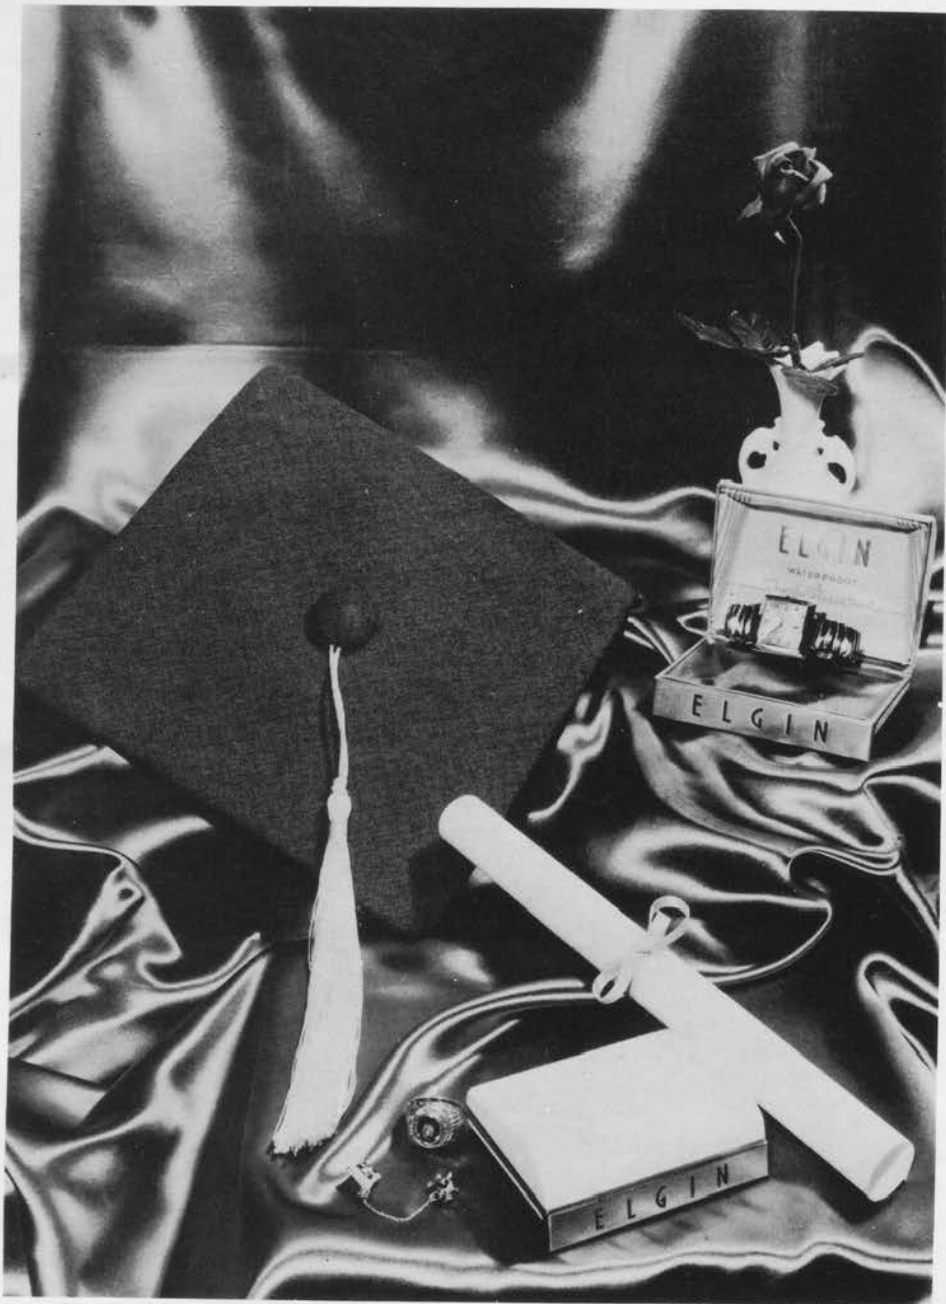

Office Staff

The well-known supplier of the food machines in the cafeteria watches while his money is counted out.

Mr. Davis, our chief engineer, is ever willing to help teachers and students alike, when something goes wrong with the equipment of the school.

WHAT WOULD HAPPEN TO 9E IF—

Ann B.—didn't get a call from D—; Linda B.—didn't eat potatoe chips in History; Dolly B.—didn't have an answer for all the teachers' questions; Janet C.—didn't lead the class in a sing song; Pam D.—stopped talking; Barbara G.—skipped gym; Linda G.—passed math; Cecilia LeB.—broke up with Allan; Donna L.—spoke up in English; Mary L.—dyed her hair black; Arlene McK.—wasn't so shy; Colleen O'N.—didn't keep watch over the White Tower after school; Sharon P.—got a Beatle haircut; Joan V.—didn't eat her lunch in science; Miss Casely—lost her temper!

11A POEM

We, the class of 11A,
Find the typing room first each day.
Our homeroom teacher is Miss Wood
We hope she thinks our work is good.
She's rather short, but can she type!
So let's not judge her by the height.
She drills us constantly on our speed
So the class of 11A will succeed.
We leave her class at twenty to ten;
Then we start to write again.
Soon it's three and time to go
But we must come back to pass, you know.

WHAT WOULD 11F DO IF:

Mary Straub—got a dimple on her other cheek; M.L.—didn't have Kenny written all over her Shorthand book; M.K.—wasn't a natural blonde; C.S.—came to school with some of her English books; C.M.—was suddenly 5 ft. tall; L.D.—didn't fluff in Book-keeping; C.F.—ever parted with her running shoes; F.P.—got a mark below 75%; M.S.—didn't curl her hair; M. Smith—stopped smiling; S.R.—didn't blush; J.L.—wasn't a cheerleader; S.T.—ever missed an Assumption dance; B.W.—had come from Cuba instead of England; L.L.—ate her lunch instead of talking to Pete; D.M.—flew to the moon (with Ron of course); J.S.—finally ran off and got married; B.F.—didn't date Rich.

11G FUTURE—1974

B.T.—gray naturally; C.A.—Miss Sweet & Shy of '74; B. Brenn—Mrs. G. Kircos; M.C.—No. 1 Harlem Globe Trotter; S.S.—maybe by this time she'll be a bride; P.Y.—Mrs. D.H.; J.R.—Ace photographer; R.F.—gun moll for the Mafia; N.P.—still bumping her head in sports cars; D.L.—living on love (Gil); J. B.—back in Chatham; I.S.—trying to prove her age; B. Miller—still married; B.S.—on a Bermuda Cruise; C.Z.—Italian opera singer; Y.F.—long blonde hair; C.K.—still being called "cold cuts;" H.M.—friendly, quiet & religious; R.W.—Millionaire; S.Z.—head of the P.T.A.; C.S.—raising little Strong boys; B. Beckett—pushing a baby carriage; M.B.—quiet—quiet!!!; L.C.—Blushing Bride; M.D.—lady wrestler; J.H.—still squeaking; D.K.—saleswoman for Metrecal; J.F.—on Windsor's top debating team; R.B.—the world's loudest commentator; B. Mooney—2nd Florence Nightingale; C.O.—pool shark; B.P.—changed her name to Smith; B.S.—long, long hair; S.W.—cool, calm & collected. Class on the whole: weeping & wailing & gnashing our teeth.

11J OUR SCHOOL

Of Guppy Commerce we're very proud.
It's the envy of all the crowd,
Here we are trained for future life,
If we try our best we all avoid strife,
The best of the classes is 11J,
But that's what we, its members say,
The Staff all give their very best,
To make this school above the rest,
The teachers are so anxious we learn,
So one day soon some money we'll earn,
Then we all will take our place,
In commerce, industry, or space.

CLASS COLUMN 11B

There are some things I would like you to see about the students of 11B. Pat Smith is a sweet darling child, although sometimes she seems to get wild. Barb McClellan is our class rep, and we hope that she won't run out of pep. Betty Clunis is a barrel of fun, but once in a while she acts shy to some. Diane T. and Judy C. are quite the brains, while Sandy Magee drives them insane. Of Rosemary and Donna we are quite fond, while Cheryl and Susan try their luck as blondes. Barb R. and Deanna think Adele D. insane, while Mr. Airey tries to keep her tame. Sandy and Faith are on the rampage, because just lately they've been engaged. Jo-Anne Leal uses hair pins, so her hair won't look like Rin Tin Tin's. Elizabeth leads the class in Math; her friend Barb B. follows in her path. Adele Golla is good at speech, so is Marilyn: her last name is Leach. Margaret and Linda stand apart from the rest of the B's, by being reserved and always at ease. Gloria's hair was red one day. At basketball, Sylvia really can play. About her life Lilly brags, in History, Deanna sometimes lags. Last but not least twisting up the aisle, is our good friend Noni with always a smile.

"CONGRATULATIONS" on having successfully completed your courses . . . and all good wishes for the future.
 Are you planning to make your start in the business world? Or . . . perhaps you intend to join the millions of women who choose home-making as their career. Regardless of your plans . . .

We will be calling on you, to present you with a $4.95 FREE GIFT. (It isn't necessary to purchase anything to obtain your free gift.)

We wish to thank those who attended our movie of "The Wonders of Wonder Ware Cooking Utensils." You owe it to yourself to get the rest of the facts.

?? YOU SHOULD KNOW ??

A wide variety of cooking utensils are available under the label "stainless steel." They are not only manufactured by many different companies and vary greatly in quality and styling, but are actually made from different types of metals. Further confusion is created by the wide range of retail prices at which they are sold.

WONDER WARE OFFERS FAR MORE THAN A PRICE AND A PROMISE
 ??? PRICE OR QUALITY ???

There is hardly anything in the world, that someone cannot make a little worse and sell a little cheaper and the people who consider price alone are this man's lawful prey.

"John Ruskin"

Good nutrition is fundamental of good health. Foods prepared the "vacuum cooking" way in modern Wonder Ware taste better, retain more vitamins and minerals.

Approximately twenty-five students formed the Social Club this year with the purpose of organizing social events for the school. The first of these events was a sockhop held after school to get the new students acquainted with one another. A Hallowe'en Dance and a Christmas Dance were later held and proved to be very successful. Plans are being made for the Annual Satin Serenade to be held later in March, after the mid-term exams. Many thanks are extended to our sponsor Mrs. Tomic and our able officers, Albert DeMers, President; Chris Scratch, Vice-President; Lucille Muzzin, Secretary; and Sherry Thomas, Treasurer.

Four students from the High School of Commerce entered the Typewriting Competition which was sponsored by the Ontario Commercial Teachers' Association.

Dorothey Awad and Susan Lomis were our Senior team. Vana Radigonda and Gail Indzeoski were our Juniors.

The competition was held on February 28. On this date, competitions were held in all parts of Ontario under similar conditions. The best papers from these local competitions were sent to Toronto and from these the Provincial results were obtained.

We are very proud to have a provincial winner. Dorothey Awad had a net speed of 71.7 words per minute and this put her in third place in the Senior division. For this Dorothey received the Smith-Corona Cup. This cup was presented to Dorothey at a dinner held by the Ontario Commercial Teachers' Association in the Roof Garden of the Royal York Hotel, Toronto, on March 31. Our Senior team won honourable mention for their net speed of 66.4 w.p.m. and tied for second place.

DRIVER TRAINING COURSE

The Driver Training Course at Commerce, now completing its fourth year, got off to a "smashing" start in the fall with a 1964, flaming-red, Dodge. Mr. Deneau, Mr. McFarlane, and Mr. Ashton were the "behind the wheel" instructors. Mr. Deneau taught the 8:25 morning classes. The graduates of the course are to be commended for learning the correct way to drive. We are grateful to Mr. Deneau for giving so much of his time to this worth-while project.

The Science Fair

Each year, a Science display is held at the Student's Centre at the University of Windsor. High School students may submit entries in many different categories. This year, Miss Decarie's junior students prepared five entries.

The Fair was held from March 20 to March 22. The entry submitted by Lynda Woodrich, Bonnie Brady, and Marlaine Anderson—a joint project on the physical features of Australia—won Honourable Mention and a special award. Congratulations, girls!

The Graduates

The Commencement Address to the Graduating Class of 1963

OCTOBER 25, 1963

by The Honourable William G. Davis, Minister of Education.

Mr. Principal, members of the Board, members of the staff, parents, and young ladies and young gentlemen:

On my first visit to Windsor after becoming Minister of Education, Mr. Dean was introducing me to a group of teachers at a convention at the University. He climaxed his speech by saying: "Ladies and gentlemen, I give you the Prime Minister of this province, Mr. Davis." So, I thought that any principal who can promote a Minister to be Prime Minister without a party convention deserves some support.

I am interested in the type of education and the programme you have here. Your school is unusual in many ways. Though you are celebrating a fourth graduation and must therefore be a young school with all the vigour and idealism of youth, you are also an old school, for you were born as the Commercial department at Lowe Vocational in 1923. You are a High School of Commerce now, and there are very few such schools in our province. They have the advantage of being able to offer a diversity of courses. Tonight, I see graduates of five different courses, who have already gained business experience through co-operative training plans, through taking over and operating a large department store for a day (the only plan of its kind in the province), and through other employment aids.

I know that ten years ago in the Provincial typing championships, your school team set a record which has never been beaten, and that this year again, you have another provincial champion. Many of your students put in overtime work and attended extra classes so that they might write the grade 13 examinations in commercial subjects.

I know that your pupils have gained a reputation for integrity, responsibility and courtesy, and that they are a credit to you as they go out into the business world. Herbert Spencer said, "Education has for its object, the Formation of character." In this respect, your school has been successful. Your school is different because most of your graduates go directly into business. There they have to meet the acid test and demonstrate that their education, both theoretical and practical, has been a good one. They are trained for work in your own community. They keep the wheels of industry in Windsor turning and they become the fine, responsible citizens of the Windsor area. I know that Windsor employers are pleased with your schooling, your character, and your attitude, and I know that in the future, you will take over many of the responsible business positions and professional positions as your predecessors have done.

You are most fortunate in your teaching staff at this school. They have been recognized for many years as leaders in the field of business education. They have written many of the text books from which you have studied, and they have kept your school in close touch with the demands of the business community. Recently, three members of your staff have served the province as members of the committees responsible for revising courses and introducing new courses for the re-organized programme. You, the graduates, know how much of your success has been the result of their efforts and inspiration.

To the parents—I realize that at this moment, you see the proud realization of your hopes and efforts. You have made sacrifices to keep your children in school, knowing that in the world of tomorrow, there are few opportunities for those who have not graduated from high school. Your sons and daughters are appreciative, but they do not yet realize what you have done for them. They will know this only when they have children of their own. Their finest return to you will be the opportunities they pass along in turn to their children with an equal measure of love and devotion.

To the graduates—I offer my congratulations and my best wishes, for you have achieved much. But let me say a word about your future. Nearly 2500 years ago, a famous scholar of Greece said, "Whoso neglects learning in his youth, loses the past, and is dead for the future." Today, he might change it to read, "Whoso neglects to continue with his learning is dead for the future." We are living in a tremendously changing world. New advances make jobs obsolete overnight. People say that every person starting work today must need re-training several times during the course of his working life. We can count on the fact that changes will come thick and fast in the future, and I ask you, "Will you be ready for them?" Tonight marks for you a commencement—you are commencing your careers. You should be also commencing the next stage of your education. How should you do this? By taking advantage of the many wonderful opportunities for training which are offered by your employers; by further studies available through night school classes, through university extension and correspondence courses; and by wide reading in English, science, history and biography—in fact, in any areas of learning which capture your interest.

Some of you may say that further education is hardly worthwhile, that life may be short and sweet, and that we should live for today rather than worry about the future. This is short-sighted pessimism. Every age has been hazardous. In the middle ages, the black death wiped out half the people of Europe within two years. In the days of Elizabeth, the British were menaced by the Spanish forces. Then came Napoleon and his mighty armies. Then Hitler. There have been few times in history when wars were not a menace. Disease was worse. The chances of living to your present age were slim, and few people lived past thirty. Yet often man's greatest achievements were made in the most dangerous times.

You young people were born about the time of the invention of the atom bomb. Has the world stood still since then? No, we have invented commercial television, and gone ahead with space exploration that will put a man on the moon very soon. Vast construction projects have rebuilt cities destroyed by war. New nations have risen on all sides. Rapid developments have come in the world of medicine. This is how mankind responds to the threat of danger.

Sixty years ago, H. G. Wells, in his book, THE DISCOVERY OF THE FUTURE, wrote, "The past is but the beginning of a beginning. All that has been, is but the twilight of the dawn. A day will come when beings will stand upon the earth and reach out their hands amid the stars." You young people are in that very dawn. I suggest to you that the stars are quite literally closer than ever, and I would ask you most seriously, to keep reaching for them.

Tennis

This year approximately ten girls along with their teacher, Mrs. Tomic, practiced regularly at Jackson Park for the tournament between other schools. Though no title was obtained the girls enjoyed themselves and showed good sportsmanship. We would like to thank Mrs. Tomic for her help.

Cheerleaders

Hats off to our two groups of cheerleaders. Mary Jackson and her smartly dressed, lively, noisy, companions were on hand for all the games. Win or lose, these lassies kept cheering. The teams and the school are proud of them.

SOCCER TEAM

The 1963 soccer team was a well-balanced one. Both veterans and many promising rookies turned out faithfully each night for exhausting practices. Their efforts paid off with a 3-wins, 3-losses and 1-tie record and a berth on the city semi-finals. The semi-finals proved to be one of the season's best series. Lowe Tech finally won the series and went on to win the championship. Brian Pollock was chosen the outstanding player of the year for his strong leadership and playing ability. The team would certainly not have developed in the fine way it did had it not been for the outstanding organization of its coach, Mr. Molyneaux. He deserves a great deal of thanks for a job well done.

Future Athletic Plans

The future of boys' athletics should be prosperous with the new "Five Year Plan." The boys enrollment went up to 140 which helped set up good Intramural Leagues. Football was the highlight in the fall but with hard planning and cooperation, borden ball, basketball and floor hockey will be played this year. Gymnastics was a big hit at the early part of the second term.

The biggest thing that the future can hold for H.S.C. is SPIRIT. School Spirit could be the one thing that is holding our teams from going on to victory. No team will feel like playing hard if it has no school spirit backing it up.

Boys' Athletic Association

Golf Team

A successful year for the golf team left us in fifth place. Mr. Maynard guided his boys to the school's best performance since we entered competition. Led by Earl Campbell's 79, Dave Brigham, Gary Langley, Bill Bolton and Dennis Moore turned in good performances.

IMPACT

Sixty years ago Ford of Canada began building automobiles and trucks.

Since then many hundreds of thousands of high school and university graduates have become Ford owners.

Their steadily-mounting preference for Ford products has contributed significantly to the impact on our national growth of this important Canadian industrial achievement.

During 1964, Ford of Canada is observing its 60th anniversary.

In its first year of existence
Ford of Canada built 117 automobiles.
In 1964, Ford of Canada will build in excess of 175,000 vehicles.*

Social Events

The Social Club, sponsored by Mrs. Tomic, and capably led by its president, Albert DeMers, had a very successful year. Mrs. Treuge, as usual, worked hard on decorations.

The events began with a tea dance in the fall. It was very well attended, and gave promise of a good year. A big Hallowe'en dance featured the Playboys. The scenery added to the gaiety of the occasion. A Christmas hop followed in December. In January, a basketball dance was held after the Walkerville game.

During the winter, basketball games were held between the teachers and students. These drew mammoth crowds of "well-wishers."

The night of Saturday, March 14, was a gala occasion. The Senior Prom had as its theme, "An Evening in Paris." The decorations were beautiful reminders of Paris in full array. The music was good and there was a large crowd of happy dancers.

The Graduates' Dinner is to be held on May 7, and a record hop will follow in our Gym. Indeed, it will be a memorable year for us all.

Commerce on Parade

For many years, Commerce students have chosen a Queen!

This year, the "May Queen" became "Commerce Queen." Candidates were nominated from all the graduating classes. The following girls were named:

Elaine Diotte
Jena Ilnicki
Janice Rhoads
Claire Galipeau
Carol Stadnick

Sandra St. Pierre
Dorothey Awad
Lois Stephens
Gail Indzeoski
Karen Bednarski

Orleen Pringle
Cheryl Laporte
Rosemary Gadzig
Erna Masurat
Jo-Anne Gratto

At the time the Yearbook went to press, the queen had not been elected. This event takes place after Easter holidays. She will be crowned at the pageant which we are calling, COMMERCE ON PARADE. The theme of COMMERCE ON PARADE this year is the GRAND HOTEL. The setting is the lobby of a large hotel, where many notables of the entertainment world gather.

Miss Layman does a super-human task each year, organizing this pageant. She deserves the highest praise and the strongest support from teachers and students alike.

Open House and Opening of the New Wing, March 20, 1964

The Board of Education sent special greetings to the principal and staff, and to the student body of the High School of Commerce on the occasion of a very special "Open House." The removal of the Commercial Department of the W.D. Lowe Vocational School to the High School of Commerce in 1959 has now been followed by the completion of a thirteen room addition, to give us one of the finest Commercial secondary schools to be found anywhere in the province.

The Harry E. Guppy High School of Commerce offers an unusual opportunity to those preparing for employment in business. Many of its graduates are now numbered among the employers who look to this school for office recruits each year.

The following programmes are offered:

The 5-Year Programme in the Business and Commerce branch. Its students may proceed to Grade 13, and continue at a University or Teachers' College, or other branch of higher learning.

The 4-Year Programme. Its graduates will be well qualified to take their places in commercial offices as they have been doing for many years. The courses offered to boys are especially suited to the needs of modern men in commerce.

The 3-Year Programme. Subjects taught include English, History, Geography, Arithmetic, Art, Home Economics, Typing, Duplicating, Record Keeping, Merchandising, and allied subjects.

Stratford Trip

On September 24, about eighty students boarded a train at 8:30 a.m. along with pupils from other district schools and journeyed to Stratford to attend a performance of Cyrano de Bergerac. We arrived in Stratford in ample time to get a few glimpses of the city before the play began.

Cyrano was a sad story which made quite an impression on us all. The costumes were colourful and the performance was so realistic that we felt we were part of the story.

We left at 5:30 and the return trip was wonderful. We had a hootenanny which gave us an opportunity to meet people from other schools.

Thank you, Miss Connerty, for making these excursions possible.

My United Nations Trip

On October 24, I was among the nine girls of Windsor, who visited the United Nations in New York.

On Thursday morning, we attended the U.N. meetings and in the afternoon, had a meeting with the Canadian delegate, Mr. Filluel, which proved most rewarding.

On Friday, we attended group meetings and later we spent almost two hours in the general assembly. We were taken on a tour through the United Nations building and through the beautiful gardens and had a delicious dinner in the delegates' dining room.

On Friday night we toured Broadway.

Saturday morning, we went shopping and sight-seeing, taking in the Empire State Building, Rockefeller Center, the Waldorf, Times Square, and many others.

After church on Sunday, we took a boat ride around Manhattan and left soon afterwards for Windsor.

I realize how fortunate I have been to have the opportunity of visiting New York and the United Nations. It gives a person a sense of security knowing that there is such an organization striving to keep the peace. The U.N. cannot succeed if it does not have the aid of the peoples of the world.

Dorothey Awad

N. O. M. A. Training Programme

Twenty-three firms this year participated in a plan to train Commercial students "on the job." Top students from the graduating classes were selected to work for one week under actual office conditions. At the end of the period, the employers filled in a rating sheet on each girl, while the students submitted an essay on their experiences. N. O. M. A. offers three prizes for the best reports.

The girls are grateful for the opportunity that the Office Managers extend to them. Very few cities offer such a fine educational project.

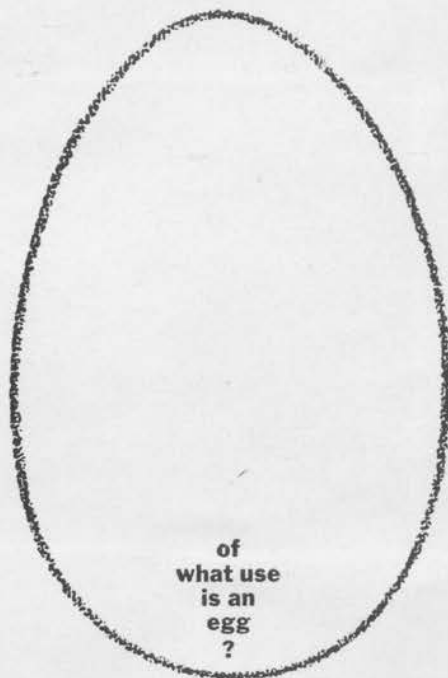

Commerce Day At Smith's

November 2, 1963, was an important day for approximately 100 Commerce students who were among those privileged to have the opportunity to work at Smith's Department Store. This day enabled us to have a look at the other side of the counter and gave us a taste of what is required in running a department store. We were assigned to different departments and to their regular sales staff who were quite helpful in showing us our duties and pointers that were needed in order to make proper sales.

This day was not all work for we were given a break in the morning and afternoon, and enjoyed our lunch at the Norton Palmer Hotel.

When the day was over we had a good feeling to know that we had a share in making the store run and were able to meet the public on the other side. Our thanks to this fine firm, for the annual Commerce Day at Smith's.

Depends on what you do with it! It could become a prize rooster, get top billing in a fricassee—or end up as a splatter on the floor. The possibilities are unlimited—the egg is just a start. Like university. You discover as you go along the endless possibilities an advanced education can bring. But you have to make a start—and not everyone can afford that. That's why the General Motors companies in Canada award 25 scholarships each year ranging in value up to $2,000 to help deserving students. More than 200 scholarships have been awarded since this programme began in 1955. Grants, too, are given to the universities themselves. Students can choose from any of 14 participating universities, pick the faculty they like, prepare in their own way to take their place in Canada's future. Life isn't always served sunny side up—but the GM scholarship plan can help.

Applications for General Motors Scholarship should be directed to the Registrars of the following participating universities: The University of Toronto; The University of Western Ontario, London; Queen's University, Kingston; The University of Montreal; The University of Manitoba, Winnipeg; The University of British Columbia, Vancouver; The University of Saskatchewan, Saskatoon; The University of Alberta, Edmonton; The University of New Brunswick, Fredericton; Laval University, Quebec City; McGill University, Montreal; Memorial University, St. John's, Newfoundland; Dalhousie University, Halifax; and McMaster University, Hamilton.

Excerpts From the Winning Speeches

YOU'RE BETTER THAN YOU THINK

I have not been in school very long, but I know from experience, that to live in this world, you have to be strong. Sooner or later, something will hit you—pain, sickness, accident, failure, and when it comes, it will rock you, unless you have some good inner toughness. All the strength you'll ever need is within you now. It was put there by your creator, who knew very well what you would be up against in this world, and made you equal to it. If life seems to be going extra hard for you, ask yourself honestly where the trouble is; the tendency is to blame other people or forces beyond your control. The solution is within you.

If you are weak and defeated, the reason may be that you have allowed failure to dominate your mind creating a deep unconscious belief that you do not have the ability to succeed. What is the solution? Reverse the mental image of yourself. This will not be easy. You must remember that your mind has actually been lying to you about your real abilities, causing you to fail deliberately. So stand up to your mind and dominate it; don't let it control you.

A short motto, which I think will help you is. "When the going gets tough, let the tough get going." Write this thought in large letters in your mind and practise it until it becomes a part of you. If you have been taking a dark view of things, muster up your character and look deeply into yourself. Perhaps, your spiritual muscles have grown weak through neglect. If so, they should be exercised and developed until you can begin to see the light. Practise seeing yourself, not weak and vacillating, but strong, controlled, and purposeful. By persistent thinking, you can undo any conditions which exist. You can free yourself from any chains, whether of sin, poverty, ill-health, unhappiness, or fear. This can be done.

Just a few short months ago, we witnessed the tragic death of President Kennedy. The person we remember most is Mrs. J. Kennedy. She had just lost her child, and this was her first public appearance. She went into Dallas, happy, gay, with thought of the future. Then the tragedy struck. In a moment, she had lost her husband and her position as First Lady of the United States. Mrs. Kennedy could have been a beaten, unfortunate woman, but she was not. She walked like a queen in dignity. She was an example to the country and the world. This can be done.

Remember, you can indeed be a tough-minded optimist.

Linda Rettig, C9A

THE FORGOTTEN CANADIANS

Recently, whenever racial violence has reared its ugly head in the Southern States, Canadians have been quick to condemn their American cousin's prejudicial treatment of the Negro.

But, as Canadians, can we honestly say that our own consciences are free of this same sin? There is, certainly, an absence of any outward displays of racial prejudice, yet, there now exists a silent subconscious war raging between the Canadian and the Indian.

In 1534, when Jacques Cartier discovered Canada, he found the Indians to be dirty, ignorant, poor, and hungry. And in 1962, Frances McNab, a magazine feature writer, found that conditions remained in this same hopeless state—if not worse. The Poucette family barely existed under conditions of poverty that would astound or disgust the average Canadian citizen. Throughout the Indians' centuries' old struggle, the Canadian Government has remained aloof, adopting an evasive "ignore and restrict" policy.

All Indian finances are strictly controlled by the Government. Should an Indian elect to withdraw his rightful share of the money, he must leave the reserve forever, never again to return. He then loses his Indianism—his identity—and becomes a person with no nationality of which to speak, and this is a sad loss.

The white man has always attempted to completely oblivate the Indian, but, the Indian is fast emerging as a first-class Canadian citizen, and the Government is finally realizing this and granting him long-awaited privileges.

And in every play, book, or movie, the Indian invariably loses—just as he has been losing for the past four centuries. He has lost his land, but, more important, he has lost his dignity as a man, and he clutches at his traditions as a last thread of hope. In a rare moment of Canadian stupidity and ignorance, we have almost succeeded in creating a very dangerous, desperate race.

In our relations with the Indian, we have adopted a shameful double-standard. We self-righteously condemn other countries for their inhumane treatment of native peoples, yet, we commit the same offenses against our own native people—all 200,000 of them. We knowingly deceive people who cannot possibly understand our ways.

We take pride in the absence of outward displays of prejudice in Canada. Yet, an ugly, dark shadow mars our pride. And this is the shadow of 200,000 disgusted, disgruntled, dissatisfied, forgotten Canadian people.

Humour Page

The person who watches television both day and night will go down in History, not to mention Math, Spelling, and Geography.

"That must be one of my teachers driving that car ahead of us."
"How can you tell?"
"Well she won't let me pass."

Liz: "Boys are all alike."
Diz: "Boys are all I like, too."

Professor: "Let's take the example of the busy ant. He is busy all the time, works all day and every day. Then what happens?"
Bright Guy: "He gets stepped on."

Mr. Deneau to Student driver: "Go on green, stop on red, and take it easy when I turn white."

Dotter: "Remember that you promised to give me two dollars if I passed History?"

Fodder: "Yes dear, that was the bargain."
Dotter: "Well, would it be worth anything to you to save all that money?"

I tell you true, I'm through with guys,
'Cause all they do is tell you lies.
They break your heart, they make you cry,
They make you want to go and die.
The way they treat you is a sin--
Wow! Dig the guy who just walked in!
-Isabelle Spink.

Classroom hint: Don't hold hands with your steady in class. It makes it difficult for the eight sitting between you.

Miss Roy: "What words are used most often by high school students?"
Pupil: "I don't know."
Miss Roy: "Correct!"

Teener (to her girl friend): "Boy is my social life really in bad shape-- I've done my homework every night this week!"

Cherie: "I don't know how football players ever get clean."
Sylvia H: "Well, what do you think they have a scrub team for?"

When is the only time a woman doesn't look in a mirror?
I dunno--when?
When she's backing up a car.

Jim S. "I spent ten hours over my Math book last night."
Cheryl: "Wow! How come?"
Jim S. "It fell under the bed."

Employer: "We can pay you $60 now and will raise you to $75 in six months."
Heather: "Good--then I'll drop back in six months."

Father (calling upstairs to daughter whose date had just arrived): "Mary-Lou, come down. Something's here to see you."

An enthusiastic golfer came home to dinner. During the meal his wife said: "Gary tells me he caddied for you this afternoon."
"Well, do you know," said Gary Langley's father, "I thought I'd seen that boy before."

Brian V., who had been used to receiving his older brother's old clothes recently remarked: "Ma, will I have to marry his widow when he dies?"

WHERE IS LOVE

Where is that feeling
That makes the world go round?
Where is that happiness
I thought I had found?

It's gone like the dreams
I dreamed in vain.
I'll live on in the world
And ignore the pain.

Love will come
One of these days.
And I'll be happy—
No more in a maze.

HIS GREATEST GIFT

How shall I describe her?
No words seem quite in place.
She is so extra-special,
So full of charm and grace.
A frown, that comes when puzzled,
Her visage does refine;
And when she takes to laughter,
She spreads a joy divine.
And when life calls for courage,
You, for courage, draw her near.
Her lips, so warm, so tender,
Erase away all fear.

Yes, when God created woman,
He used a perfect plan.
He made her image flawless,
'Twas His greatest gift to man.

A TRIBUTE

He was humbleness in a world of pride—
He was light in a world of darkness—
He was courage in a world of cowardice and fear—
He was peace in a world of wars and revolutions—
He was truth in a world
of lies—
But most of all, he was goodness
in a world of evil.

A PRESIDENT LOST

A president lost and a nation wide
Weeps in sorrow by his widow's side,
Two children left without a dad
The family mourns and the world is sad.

Though someone else will take his place
We'll always remember his smiling face,
Even if he was called away
His memory will forever stay.

TOUCHED

When night has braved the day and rules
the sky,

Walk down a country road or hidden lane.
And at its end, look up and see the stars,
And listen to the night-bird's sweet refrain.

Then feel the stiffness of the wind on cheek,
And smell the purity of rural air;
Now fold your arms and sense the living pulse,
For in its swell there lies a treasure rare.

Bend low your knee; present an humble heart,
And vow to keep your life, by sin, untrod.
Do this and you will truly be a man,
A man whose very soul was touched by God.

IS FREEDOM WORTH THIS MUCH?

Heroic views of battle fall to dust,
Romantic words of valour quickly die,
Grandpa's stories praising bloodshed flee,
When young men on the front in terror lie.

They tell a joke, they feign a laugh or smile,
They slap each other's back and talk of home,
Then turn aside a bit to wipe a tear,
And face with frozen spine the vast unknown.

Then suddenly, from nowhere, rings a shot.
Mechanically they spring to man their guns.
Then one man, then another pays in full
The debt of life upon which freedom runs.

Is freedom worth this much?

ROUTINE

Half-past seven it's time to rise
And get the sleep out of my eyes!
I have to rush to dress and eat
And comb my hair so I'll look neat;
Barb's at the corner, it's almost eight,
And if I don't hurry, she won't wait!
We run to the corner to catch a bus
So Mr. Jennings won't make a fuss,
We run to our homeroom at five to nine
And we always get there just in time!
In the cafeteria we eat at noon
Which doesn't come any too soon,
We laugh and talk for a little while,
Then at one we lose our smile.
At last three o'clock, and it's time to go,
And at this time we're never slow;
But even though school is out
There's always homework round about.

EVER NOTICED?

Often on the crowded road,
It's frightening to see
How close some reckless motorist
Will drive ahead of me.

HAIR-DO'S

Hair-do's I think are a foolish waste,
And some of them don't show much taste.
They wind and twist in much array,
But in the end they'll all be gray.

Some girls think their hair is so fine,
And the boys will all agree in time.
Hair colour now is oh so gay,
And comes in red and white, never gray.

Some hair-do's look like a hive,
And cost anywhere from three to five.
They could have been done for much less,
But women as always want the best.

So listen girls take my advice,
You have more than one device—
To get the boy you think is best
If you watch your hair you'll pass the test.

MOONLIGHT DANCING

I danced and I whirled
Till the night turned to day.
I danced and I whirled
All my cares away.

The night was young,
The world was gay.

The night was young
As I danced and swayed.

The moon shone down
Lighting the night;
The moon shone down
On a lovely sight.

A young boy and girl
Engaged in a kiss;
At a moment like that
There is nothing but bliss.

Now the moon won't shine,
I no longer sway,
The music has gone,
My dreams fade away.

MY MIDNIGHT DRAG WITH HANK REVERE

Listen my children and you shall hear,
Of my midnight drag with Hank Revere.
I was stopped at a redlight in my 406,
Runnin' three-two barrels and a four-speed stick.

I glanced in my mirror and coming up behind

Was a big red Chevy—409.

I waited a second till the light turned green
And he whipped up beside me, lookin' real mean.

He rolled down his window and glanced at my flags,

Then yelled real loud, "You wanna drag?"
I said, "No, least not much."

But when he yelled, "Go," I popped the clutch.
I was still burnin' rubber when I hit second gear

And the roar of my engine was all I could hear.

That Ford had a lot with my foot on the floor,
But that Chevy beside me had a little more.
So I skipped third gear and went into high,
And that Chevy sounded mean as I went by.
In the speed of a second he shifted too,
And I could see right then that we weren't through.

Up ahead was a stop sign, he didn't stop and Neither did I,

And I heard that siren as we went by.
I knew it was then that this race should end
With the police behind and ahead a sharp bend.
As he entered that curve he started to slide,
And as he tore through that light pole,
Hank Revere died.

Now this story has a moral that's plain to see

Don't drag on the highway,
Or you'll be in jail—like me.

Da da.

There is no Santa Claus.

Can I have the car tonight?

When you gurgled out the first statement,
your Father puffed up like a peacock.

When you took a stand on the second,
your Mother knew her baby wasn't a baby anymore.

Now that you're old enough to ask the question,
act your age. Drive safely.

Any other way is for kids.

We've got the spirit, we've got the team,
We've got the school that's right on the beam,
We will show them we can fight,
For our colours red, black and white.

United we stand, unconquered and tall,
We'll never stumble, we'll never fall,
Proud and faithful we will be,
So march on to victory.
